Newfoundland Waters Searched For Missing Ship

Canadian Destroyer Saguenay Joins Hunt For Ss. Joseph Medill, Missing With Eighteen Men Since Hurricane; Other Vessels on Look-out

Medill Owned By Montreal Company

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Sept. 13.—The Canadian destroyer Saguenay was ordered to-day to search for the missing cargo steamer Joseph Medill, unreported since August 17 on her maiden voyage from Newcastle-on-Tyne to Montreal.

The Medill, owned by the Ontario Paper Company of Montreal, carried a crew of eighteen men.

Full powers of modern science were enlisted to-day for the black hulled vessel. Orders to the Saguenay were made by Premier Bennett after an interview with Jonathan Robinson, representing the owners of the Medill.

All shipping passing along the route, estimated at ten vessels daily, was requested to watch for the Medill. The Royal Canadian Mounted Police instructed its patrol boats near Newfoundland, Anticosti and Cape Breton to be on watch. In addition, Washington asked all United States vessels to be on the lookout and the Newfoundland coast was hampered by a storm. Five hatchways were washed ashore along the coast, but a check showed they had not come from the Medill.

Robinson said planes would not be used in the search because of the distance from land. Since September 7, the schooner Marie Yvonne has been patrolling the route out from St. John's, Nfld., but on September 9 reported no luck.

The Joseph Medill, a motorship, was reported lost on August 17, when the Norwegian steamship Stavanger Ford passed her. She should have passed Belle Isle August 26 and made Montreal by the end of the month.

In the night of August 20-21, a hurricane was reported along the route the Medill was following. At the week-end of August 24, the Newfoundland coast was hampered by a storm. Five hatchways were washed ashore along the coast, but a check showed they had not come from the Medill.

Evans is at liberty on $10,000 bail pending trial on a charge of being a member of an unlawful association. Evans addressed more than 1,000 persons in Regina's city hall yesterday evening. Earlier in the week he had been warned in district court that he might be cited for contempt of court if he persisted in continuing his public speeches.

CITY PROJECTS TO GET $100,000

Government Votes Sum For Victoria Out of Municipal Works Loans

The entire sum set aside by the provincial government for works loans to municipalities was taken up to-day when an amount of $100,000 for projects in Victoria was approved by the cabinet.

Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, has been arranging to provide the funds and the city recently made a request for this amount.

Other loans on the island include $80,000 to Nanaimo for waterworks development.

Just how the Victoria money will be spent has not yet been decided. Repairs to the seawall and the cleaning of Bowker Creek are some of the projects listed.

The City Council will consider the matter Monday night.

The municipal fund was set aside by the government out of its special works programme this year which included $1,500,000 on provincial road and construction projects. The purpose was to stimulate employment in areas where there was necessary work waiting to be done.

Kiku in Collision Off Vancouver, But Princess Marguerite Not Harmed

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Sept. 13.—St. Princess Marguerite of the Canadian Pacific Steamship Company, outbound for Victoria and Seattle, was in collision with the thirty-five-foot fish packer Kiku to-day near the entrance to the First Narrows of Vancouver Harbor. No one was injured and little damage was done to either craft.

The signalman at the Prospect Point signal station reported both vessels were proceeding outbound through the Narrows, with the smaller vessel on the port side of the Marguerite. The passenger steamer was drawing past the Kiku, he said, when the fishboat turned in and crashed into the side of the Marguerite.

The stern head of the Kiku was stove in. The Marguerite, in command of Capt. Perry Rogers, stood by for fifteen minutes, and assured the vessel was in no danger, proceeded to Victoria. No damage was done to the Marguerite.

No Radical Policies, But Balanced Budgets For Alberta, Premier Tells Toronto Canadian Club

Canadian Press
Toronto, Sept. 13.—A one-time prairie school teacher turned economist, Premier William Aberhart of Alberta to-day reverted to his former role to teach 500 eastern business men that the best things in life are free.

In reassuring terms the fifty-seven-year-old prophet of Social Credit told a Toronto Canadian Club audience he would move cautiously in spreading his $25-a-month-for-all credit policies throughout Alberta. There would be no default or repudiation, no radical policies, he said. The province would balance its budgets.

"We are not taking any step before we know where the foot is going to fall," he said, waving aside with a nod of his head, criticism his self-styled unorthodox policies were unwelcome.

CULTURAL HERITAGE

With that the Premier launched into the fundamentals of his plan, based on the theory—he calls it fact—that the basic necessities of life are the cultural heritage of every person in his province.

ITALY HOLDING TO HER COURSE

Not Diverted in Ethiopia By Laval's Speech, Says Government Spokesman

Associated Press
Rome, Sept. 13.—An Italian government spokesman said to-day that Premier Laval's expression of the French attitude in the League of Nations was neither favorable nor unfavorable and it would have no effect on Italy's course of action.

"We noted with satisfaction the French Premier said nothing unfriendly about us," said the government spokesman. "We understand the position Laval finds himself in and have great admiration for him."

LAVAL'S WORRIES

"Premier Laval has shown himself to be a good friend of Italy and we have great sympathy for the worries which are his at this moment. We are not surprised that he should have reaffirmed France's faith in the League. His discourse did not make an unfavorable impression on us, nor did it make a good impression."

"In any case it will not change Italy's line of action."

In connection with the movements the Admiralty has already explained the Mediterranean fleet was not being reinforced from other fleets.

Premier Tells Assembly at Geneva France Will Not Seek to Evade Her Obligations Under League Constitution in Joining in Collective Measures on Italo-Ethiopian Struggle; Keen Discussion Among Delegates Follows Declaration; Italian Spokesman Says His Colleagues Impatient

By GEORGE HAMBLEDON, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Geneva, Sept. 13.—France to-day came down strongly on the side of the League of Nations in the Italo-Ethiopian dispute.

"Our obligations," Premier Laval declared, "are written in the covenant. France will not seek to evade them."

The League Assembly hall was packed and there were frequent bursts of applause as France aligned herself with Great Britain, Russia and the smaller nations in defence of the covenant.

Premier Laval's explicit declaration France will not fall in her obligations under the covenant aroused keen discussion among League delegates afterwards. His interpretation of the British Foreign Secretary's speech of Wednesday as an undertaking by Britain to back collective security in all circumstances, at all times and in all places, was particularly a matter for comment.

GUIDING PRINCIPLE

The French Premier's reference to the British Minister's speech was reported officially as follows: "Sir Samuel Hoare expressed the will of the United Kingdom to adhere unreservedly to the system of collective security He said that will was, and should continue to be, the guiding principle of Britain's international policy."

"No country welcomed the words of the British Secretary of State with more satisfaction than did France," said Mr. Laval. "No country was better able to appreciate and estimate the scope of such an undertaking. This solidarity of responsibilities of all kinds in all circumstances of time and place, a responsibility which is implied for the future by such declarations, marked a date in the history of the League of Nations."

"I rejoice at this with my country for my country understands fully the need for close collaboration with the United Kingdom in defence of peace and for the safeguarding of Europe."

CENTRAL EUROPE

Laval's interpretation raised the important question of Britain's willingness to support the covenant equally strongly in the event of infractions in central Europe. M. Laval is understood to have been pressing for such an undertaking from London.

WANTS TAX ON EXCESS PROFITS

Alan Chambers Says Exploitation of Worker Must Stop

Nanaimo, Sept. 13.—So convinced were voters at Harewood and East Wellington last night with the sincerity of Alan Chambers, Liberal candidate, for the Nanaimo riding in forthcoming federal election that his policy for the relief of unemployment and other suggestions for readjustment of national affairs was greeted with rounds of applause.

An unusual feature of Mr. Chambers' election campaign was shown in his praise where praise was due, and his departure from the usual mud slinging tactics. "It is getting to be no longer a question of unemployment, but of rehabilitation. It is fast becoming, not a question of the unemployed, but of the unemployed who are being rehabilitated," he declared.

The speaker explained in detail his ideas of using the credit and resources of Canada, to relieve the situation in conjunction with various other remedies which he outlined in detail.

TIME FOR DEMOCRACY

Mr. Chambers decried the autocratic attitude assumed by governments toward the unemployed. "This is still a time for democracy in Canada, not for an autocracy gone mad. We need rationalization of government and a cutting down of the overlapping of administrations and consequent debt. We must remove the system of exploiting the worker and producer," declared Mr. Chambers, who advocated as a remedy for this sort of thing, the enactment of an excess profits act.

Citing facts and figures to show the folly of high tariffs and how they worked an injury to the common people, the speaker said there were many grievances which the four western provinces held in common and advocated a united front for equal rights with eastern Canada.

"We must cut out a lot of this duplication of government authorities and have a clear definition of their authority to enable us to reduce our burden of taxation, yet not one whit impair the public services," Mr. Chambers declared.

As an emergency method to insure speedy employment the speaker favored construction of the transcanada highway. Another means of reducing administrative costs as relating to borrowings, Mr. Chambers advocated that the national bank should issue credit through a nationally owned central bank on an interest charge equivalent only to operating costs.

Dr. G. A. B. Hall addressed the East Wellington meeting in behalf of Mr. Chambers and pleaded for co-operation of all parties and interests to secure an efficient administration for next term of government.

Start Cautiously On Dividend Plan

Aberhart's Idea

This cultural heritage, manifested in a monthly dividend of $25, should be, and would be, free, Mr. Aberhart asserted.

People had told him "it cannot be done." Premier Aberhart frowned as he spoke of the privation and lack of necessities among the citizens of Alberta.

"It has to be done or the people will fight their way out," he said. "There would be no 'black list' when his plan began to operate, he emphasized. If men could not find work, they would receive the dividend anyway. If they had work and sufficient wages the dividend would come just the same—but they would have to help, not by repaying their credit allowances but by aiding in making possible employment for others."

Mr. Aberhart, broadly smiling, disparaged the contention free dividends were a new idea. Many of his warmest critics received dividends and he doubted they were different. These men said they were different. Mr. Aberhart laughed at that.

His "something for nothing" proposals had been received skeptically by many, he admitted, "but something for nothing is man's gift by creation."

EXPECTS CO-OPERATION
Premier Aberhart spoke confidently of co-operation expected from business organizations in Alberta. The farmers of his province owed retail grocers $40,000,000, he estimated. There was no apparent solution for that debt. But with his plan in operation he was sure it would be repaid.

With the increased turnover induced by more purchases, price spreads would be reduced. Purchasing power would be increased.

GREAT RESOURCES
He had been asked where the money would come from to distribute the $120,000,000 worth of dividends each year. "In 1930," he explained, "Alberta's natural products were worth an estimated $180,000,000 and it will take $180,000,000 to supply dividends—there is no problem in arithmetic there."

NO CONFISCATION
There would be no confiscation, he affirmed. The dividend funds would be collected through a levy on the spread between the cost of production and the just price for products to be fixed by the estimates of authorities in various branches of business and industry.

Canadian Press
Toronto, Sept. 13.—Hon. William Aberhart, Alberta's Social Credit Premier, announced to-day he would interview Rev. Father Charles E. Coughlin, the crusading Detroit priest, in connection with his plans to seek expert financial advice before implementing his Social Credit theories in his home province. He said he might also interview Henry Ford.

"I have been following Father Coughlin very closely for some time and I believe he is working along similar lines to mine," Mr. Aberhart said. "An interview has been arranged and I will talk with him in Detroit."

SPREAD OF IDEA
Interviewed, the Alberta Premier foresees federal adoption of his Social Credit movement by means of provincial swings towards his policies. Alberta, he explained, was an experimental station. If the movement would be contained in the four provinces west of Ontario to look after their interests in the Dominion House.

"Some government might want to give us trouble," he explained. "Therefore we want our members there to give us representation."

SOME SAY IT IS LUCKY
There are some people, however, who believe that "13" is a lucky number. They also declare that Friday is no different from any other day in the week. For such people the day passes unnoticed.

There are not many such people, because seldom can be found a cabin "13" on a ship, a thirteenth floor of a hotel or thirteenth seats at a table. Many people hesitate to sit at such a table. On a "Friday the thirteenth" they would most emphatically refuse.

In the United States is an insurance known as the "Black Cat Club." Membership is open to any of the 350,000 insurance salesmen who sell successful insurance policies to-day. This club was started on Friday, July 13, 1934. So far there are not many members.

There is another "hoax" day in store this year. The thirteenth of December falls on a Friday.

A check-up on local hospitals to-day showed no babies ushered into the world this morning, but St. Joseph's Hospital reported there probably would be a new arrival before the day was out, who will be able to

There were no weddings in Victoria to-day.

MOOSE JAW, SEPT. 13 (Canadian Press).—If any ill-luck is going about to-day, Bruce Pasmore should be on the receiving end. It is his thirteenth birthday to-day, Friday the thirteenth, his name has thirteen letters, thirteen guests are invited to his birthday party, and he lives at 13 Main Street North.

HAMILTON, SEPT. 13 (Canadian Press).—The hopes of Friday the thirteenth, the day people win seven years' bad luck, holds no nuptial terror for Helen Ellis of Hamilton and John Enslow of Port Nelson. They were married here to-day.

TORONTO, SEPT. 13 (Canadian Press).—Just-ridden Friday the thirteenth was welcomed to-day with a smile into the life of Major Alex Lewis, clerk of the Ontario Legislature.

Disastrous for some, Friday and its association with the number thirteen has brought luck to Major Lewis. Major Lewis left Toronto for service overseas on car number thirteen, on a Friday the thirteenth. His troopship sailed on another Friday the thirteenth, and in England he departed for France on Friday the thirteenth.

In France, Major Lewis served with the 13th Corps. He was wounded, but not on a thirteenth, and when asked when he expected to leave the hospital he replied, "Friday the thirteenth."

He was right.

Friday the thirteenth was an unlucky day for a prize winning black Siberian rabbit at the Willows Exhibition.

In her hutch in the Rabbit Building she gave birth to a litter yesterday. When D. Doig, an exhibitor, looked into her nest of wool and straw this morning he found that the tiny little hairless rabbits were all dead.

U.S. Lumber Protests Made

They show that May and June aggregated 10,046,000 board feet and the imports, all from British Columbia, totaled 28,439,000 board feet.

A study of the imports of Douglas fir lumber from Canada this year shows that 13,135,000 feet came into the United States by railroad from January 1 to June 30, the association stated in a new bulletin. "Of this 12,300,000 board feet were imported during May and June, or after the closure of mills in Washington and Oregon by the strike."

The total value of Douglas fir lumber imported from January 1 to July 31 from British Columbia is shown in the customs records to be in excess of $700,000.

The import figures for August are not available, but the record of known shipments from British Columbia mills during July and August of lumber which would enter the United States ports during the latter month indicates the movement was larger than in July, the association said.

It said lumbermen believe the British Columbia movement will increase, despite a tax and tariff of $4 a thousand, and base their belief on a saving of about $2 a thousand in labor costs and by the use of foreign bottoms at a saving under the United States cargo rate.

where everybody must assume his responsibility, it is my duty to make heard the voice of my country.

"I explained the French position before the Council of the League of Nations. I have done this, I believe, with clearness."

"France is faithful to the League covenant. She cannot fail in her obligations."

"The League of Nations was born from the sufferings of men and it was erected on ruins, conceived in order to prevent a return of war."

"The adhesion without reservation which we have brought to the League has been enthusiastic, and the result of considered opinion."

"We place our hope in the co-operation of all peoples for the realization of our ideal of peace. Sometimes it has happened in difficult moments that we have known real disappointment at Geneva, yet our faith has never been weakened."

"With a perseverance which no difficulty has ever been able to discourage representatives of France have constantly labored to increase the moral authority of the greatest doctrine of collective security remains and will remain the doctrine of France. The covenant endures as our international law."

"How could we ever allow such a law to be weakened?" asked Premier Laval. "That would be to cast aside all our ideals, and our very interest is opposed to any such step. The policy of France is based in its entirety on the League of Nations."

ALL ACCORDS APPROVED
"All our accords with our friends and our allies have been either passed by Geneva or based on Geneva. . . . Any blow struck at the institution at Geneva would be a blow struck at our very security."

"In affirming our fidelity to the pact I renew and confirm the declaration which has been made from this tribune by representatives of my country."

"If it was necessary to present the circumstances, this would provoke no surprise."

BRITAIN'S ATTITUDE
"In an address, elevated in its thought, there was found anew the liberal tradition of England and England's sense of the universal. Sir Samuel Hoare told us the day before yesterday of the determination of the United Kingdom to adhere without reservations to the system of collective security."

"He affirmed this determination was and will continue to be the guiding principle of the international policy of Great Britain. No country has welcomed with greater satisfaction the word of the British Secretary of State than France."

"No country more than France may appreciate and understand the meaning of such an engagement," said Premier Laval. "This solidarity in responsibilities of all kinds at all times

GREAT RESOURCES
He had been asked where the money would come from to distribute the $120,000,000 worth of dividends each year. "In 1930," he explained, "Alberta's natural products were worth an estimated $180,000,000 and it will take $180,000,000 to supply dividends—there is no problem in arithmetic there."

NO CONFISCATION
There would be no confiscation, he affirmed. The dividend funds would be collected through a levy on the spread between the cost of production and the just price for products to be fixed by the estimates of authorities in various branches of business and industry.

Canadian Press
Toronto, Sept. 13.—Hon. William Aberhart, Alberta's Social Credit Premier, announced to-day he would interview Rev. Father Charles E. Coughlin, the crusading Detroit priest, in connection with his plans to seek expert financial advice before implementing his Social Credit theories in his home province. He said he might also interview Henry Ford.

"I have been following Father Coughlin very closely for some time and I believe he is working along similar lines to mine," Mr. Aberhart said. "An interview has been arranged and I will talk with him in Detroit."

SPREAD OF IDEA
Interviewed, the Alberta Premier foresees federal adoption of his Social Credit movement by means of provincial swings towards his policies. Alberta, he explained, was an experimental station. If the movement would be contained in the four provinces west of Ontario to look after their interests in the Dominion House.

"Some government might want to give us trouble," he explained. "Therefore we want our members there to give us representation."

There may be others, and they are not telling their friends about it, not for publication at any rate.

SOME SAY IT IS LUCKY
There are some people, however, who believe that "13" is a lucky number. They also declare that Friday is no different from any other day in the week. For such people the day passes unnoticed.

There are not many such people, because seldom can be found a cabin "13" on a ship, a thirteenth floor of a hotel or thirteenth seats at a table. Many people hesitate to sit at such a table. On a "Friday the thirteenth" they would most emphatically refuse.

"BLACK CAT CLUB"
In the United States is an insurance known as the "Black Cat Club." Membership is open to any of the 350,000 insurance salesmen who sell successful insurance policies to-day. This club was started on Friday, July 13, 1934. So far there are not many members.

There is another "hoax" day in store this year. The thirteenth of December falls on a Friday.

A check-up on local hospitals to-day showed no babies ushered into the world this morning, but St. Joseph's Hospital reported there probably would be a new arrival before the day was out, who will be able to boast of a "Friday the thirteenth" as his birthday.

There were no weddings in Victoria to-day.

MOOSE JAW, SEPT. 13 (Canadian Press).—If any ill-luck is going about to-day, Bruce Pasmore should be on the receiving end. It is his thirteenth birthday to-day, Friday the thirteenth, his name has thirteen letters, thirteen guests are invited to his birthday party, and he lives at 13 Main Street North.

HAMILTON, SEPT. 13 (Canadian Press).—The hopes of Friday the thirteenth, the day people win seven years' bad luck, holds no nuptial terror for Helen Ellis of Hamilton and John Enslow of Port Nelson. They were married here to-day.

TORONTO, SEPT. 13 (Canadian Press).—Just-ridden Friday the thirteenth was welcomed to-day with a smile into the life of Major Alex Lewis, clerk of the Ontario Legislature.

Disastrous for some, Friday and its association with the number thirteen has brought luck to Major Lewis. Major Lewis left Toronto for service overseas on car number thirteen, on a Friday the thirteenth. His troopship sailed on another Friday the thirteenth, and in England he departed for France on Friday the thirteenth.

In France, Major Lewis served with the 13th Corps. He was wounded, but not on a thirteenth, and when asked when he expected to leave the hospital he replied, "Friday the thirteenth."

He was right.

Friday the thirteenth was an unlucky day for a prize winning black Siberian rabbit at the Willows Exhibition.

In her hutch in the Rabbit Building she gave birth to a litter yesterday. When D. Doig, an exhibitor, looked into her nest of wool and straw this morning he found that the tiny little hairless rabbits were all dead.

They show that May and June aggregated 10,046,000 board feet and the imports, all from British Columbia, totaled 28,439,000 board feet.

A study of the imports of Douglas fir lumber from Canada this year shows that 13,135,000 feet came into the United States by railroad from January 1 to June 30, the association stated in a new bulletin. "Of this 12,300,000 board feet were imported during May and June, or after the closure of mills in Washington and Oregon by the strike."

The total value of Douglas fir lumber imported from January 1 to July 31 from British Columbia is shown in the customs records to be in excess of $700,000.

The import figures for August are not available, but the record of known shipments from British Columbia mills during July and August of lumber which would enter the United States ports during the latter month indicates the movement was larger than in July, the association said.

It said lumbermen believe the British Columbia movement will increase, despite a tax and tariff of $4 a thousand, and base their belief on a saving of about $2 a thousand in labor costs and by the use of foreign bottoms at a saving under the United States cargo rate.

where everybody must assume his responsibility, it is my duty to make heard the voice of my country.

"I explained the French position before the Council of the League of Nations. I have done this, I believe, with clearness."

"France is faithful to the League covenant. She cannot fail in her obligations."

"The League of Nations was born from the sufferings of men and it was erected on ruins, conceived in order to prevent a return of war."

"The adhesion without reservation which we have brought to the League has been enthusiastic, and the result of considered opinion."

"We place our hope in the co-operation of all peoples for the realization of our ideal of peace. Sometimes it has happened in difficult moments that we have known real disappointment at Geneva, yet our faith has never been weakened."

"With a perseverance which no difficulty has ever been able to discourage representatives of France have constantly labored to increase the moral authority of the greatest doctrine of collective security remains and will remain the doctrine of France. "How could we ever allow such a law to be weakened?" asked Premier Laval. "That would be to cast aside all our ideals, and our very interest is opposed to any such step. The policy of France is based in its entirety on the League of Nations."

ALL ACCORDS APPROVED
"All our accords with our friends and our allies have been either passed by Geneva or based on Geneva. . . . Any blow struck at the institution at Geneva would be a blow struck at our very security."

"If it was necessary to present the circumstances, this would provoke no surprise."

BRITAIN'S ATTITUDE
"In an address, elevated in its thought, there was found anew the liberal tradition of England and England's sense of the universal. Sir Samuel Hoare told us the day before yesterday of the determination of the United Kingdom to adhere without reservations to the system of collective security."

"He affirmed this determination was and will continue to be the guiding principle of the international policy of Great Britain. No country has welcomed with greater satisfaction the word of the British Secretary of State than France."

"No country more than France may appreciate and understand the meaning of such an engagement," said Premier Laval. "This solidarity in responsibilities of all kinds at all times

"The United States' reminder of the pact, in a statement made by Secretary of State Hull yesterday evening appealing against war, would be received cordially here, they said, if Italy did not believe Ethiopia had already violated every precept of the pact."

A report by the permanent grain commission, after a meeting with Premier Benito Mussolini, announced the nation may look forward to a war with Ethiopia secure in the knowledge that Italian agriculture will supply bread for the people and for the armies of the people.

The commission reported the 1935 wheat crop production was 77,144,700 bushels (202,893,900 bushels from 5,000,000 acres).

FIRE MARSHAL CENSURES COUNCIL

Vancouver, Sept. 13.—The fire which destroyed the Ilchester Apartments at Seventh Avenue and Granville lation of inflammable materials of Fire Marshal J. A. Thomas stated in his official report yesterday.

"I find the city council should be severely censured for their Nero-like attitude on receiving reports from responsible officers as to the conditions existing and the fact that the laws passed by the Legislature for the protection of life and property were not being carried out," he reported.

URGES ABERHART BE GIVEN CHANCE

Canadian Press
Toronto, Sept. 13.—Hon. George Hoskies, Minister of Health, Minister of Railways and Minister of Trade and Industry, and at times
Acting Premier in the former United Farmer Government of Alberta, was a visitor in Toronto today, still mystified by the Social Credit phenomenon in his home province, but urging Canadians to give William Aberhart
"a chance."
"I feel the people of Alberta have spoken overwhelmingly in favor of Mr. Aberhart's proposals," he said,
"and it is the duty of everyone to do nothing which will prejudice the possibility of him carrying out his proposals."
After twenty-six years in public life, the former cabinet minister is taking his first holiday since 1924.
He said he was here "for a rest."

Victoria Mayor Heads Union

dent of Union of B.C.

tions Passed

Canadian Press
Harrison Hot Springs, B.C., Sept. 13.
—Mayor David Leeming of Victoria was elected president of the Union of B.C. Municipalities to succeed Mayor T. A. Love of Grand Forks at the concluding session of the convention yesterday.

Next year's convention will be held in Vernon.
The members of the 1935 executive include Reeve J. T. Brown of Surrey, first vice-president; Reeve R. C. Macdonald of Coquitlam, second vice-president; R. H. H. Sewell, Saanich, secretary; Ald. Harry Sullivan of New Westminster, solicitor and parliamentary agent, and Commissioner Jackson of Creston, Reeve William Croch of Saanich, Ald. G. C. Miller of Vancouver, Clerk R. F. Blandy of Oak Bay, Reeve J. D. Leyland of West
Vancouver, Mayor W. J. Moffatt of Kamloops, Mayor Fred Hume of New Westminster, Mayor John Barby of Nanaimo and Mayor E. W. Prowse of Vernon.

UTILITIES COMMISSION
Creation of a public utilities commission by the provincial government, vesting of financial control of libraries in municipal councils, endorsement of the King report on educational finance, decision to send copies of resolutions passed at the conference of Canadian mayors in Montreal to all candidates in the federal election and make their responses public, and reiteration of the demand for removal of social service costs from municipalities were contained in some of the measures passed at the final business session.

Reeve Noel Booth of Langley protested that the resolution asking relief from social service costs was not sufficiently strong, and he sponsored a motion, which was also passed, giving the executive of the union power to call an extraordinary meeting of the union in the vicinity of the Legislature, if the government does not promise to introduce legislation.
"Passing these plans resolutions won't get us very far," commented Reeve Booth. "We do it every year and look at the results."

SCHOOL DISPUTES
A reported statement that the British Columbia School Trustees Association, which will open a meeting here next Monday, plans to sponsor an amendment to the School Act deleting the provision for arbitration in the event that a municipal council and school board cannot agree on estimates, was vigorously challenged by a number of delegates.
It was stated the arbitration clause has enabled a number of municipalities to win cases against school boards and reduce school appropriations. If the amendment were to be deleted, it was said, municipal councils would "again be at the mercy of school boards." The union instructed the executive to fight the proposed change in the act if it is introduced in the Legislature.

LIFE MEMBER
One of the final acts of the convention was to pass a vote of appreciation of the work of A. J. Pilkington, former city treasurer of Vancouver, who was associated with the union for many years, and to elect him a life member.

Fifty Lads Leave England For Farm School Near Duncan

Canadian Press
London, Sept. 13.—"Best wishes for a good journey to Canada and all possible success in the future," was the message the Prince of Wales sent yesterday from Budapest to a tea party given at British Columbia House here for fifty children scheduled to sail today for Fairbridge Farm School in Canada's Pacific Coast Province.
All the children are ten years of age, from industrially-distressed northern districts. One youngster, Edward Walton, said he belonged to a family of eleven, and though they were all fond of one another, he was "glad to be leaving for something better."

The Prince had a large hand in forming the party, which will be carried to Montreal by the St. Duchess

Snow alleges his father invested

STEVENS IN NOVA SCOTIA

Reconstruction Party Leader Addresses Five Meetings in One Day

Canadian Press
New Glasgow, N.S., Sept. 13.—One of the most strenuous days which
Hon. H. H. Stevens, Reconstruction Party leader, has spent in his campaign thus far culminated with a meeting here yesterday evening. Moving swiftly through Cape Breton Island yesterday, Mr. Stevens visited North Sydney, Sydney Mines, Florence, Baddeck and Port Hawkesbury.
He then crossed to the mainland for a brief meeting at Antigonish, coming to New Glasgow early in the evening.
Mr. Stevens, speaking at Port Hawkesbury, discussed problems of maritime fishermen.
At his New Glasgow meeting, Mr.
Stevens said that Mr. Bennett, according to the newspapers, was now saying he believed in a measure of controlled inflation. Four years ago he had advised Prime Minister Bennett to permit the Canadian dollar to follow sterling. That was when Great Britain went off the gold standard.
Mr. Bennett had said no. The Canadian dollar must remain tied to the United States dollar. The result was that Canadian lost billions of dollars of business and through imposition of an exchange dumping duty against the United Kingdom angered some of Canada's best commercial customers in Great Britain.

PEACE APPEAL IS BROADCAST

From Geneva British Foreign Secretary Urges Italy to Make Fair Settlement
With Ethiopia

Associated Press
Geneva, Sept. 13.—Great Britain's Foreign Secretary pleaded with Italy yesterday evening "in the words of a real friend" for a peace "that will do justice alike to Ethiopia's national rights and to Italy's claims for expansion."
Sir Samuel Hoare, in a speech broadcast to the empire, but patently meant for the ears of Il Duce, delivered a fervent appeal for a just settlement of the bitter quarrel between Italy and Ethiopia.
He reiterated Great Britain's desire for peace, coupled with her determination "to keep our word that we have solemnly given under the covenant of the League of Nations." Particularly he invoked the long friendship between his country and Italy, and to the nation of Mussolini he said:
"Let the air carry to-night, to Italy, these words: 'Whatever bitter things may be said, they are the words of a real friend.'"

Dr. L. G. Carpenter Dies in Denver

Associated Press
Denver, Sept. 13.—Dr. Louis George Carpenter, seventy-four, called the father of scientific irrigation in Colorado, died yesterday. He had been under treatment since May 3 after a paralytic stroke.

Born in 1860 Dr. Carpenter was called on by the Province of British Columbia to act as government irrigation expert. He also served as arbitrator in water disputes between Kansas, Wyoming and Colorado.

Municipalities' Demands Voiced

McGeer Urges Federal Candidates Be Required to Give Pledges

Canadian Press
Harrison Hot Springs, B.C., Sept.
13.—Leading a demand "to put federal candidates on the spot and make municipal affairs a real issue in the election," Mayor G. G. McGeer of Vancouver yesterday addressed delegates to the Union of British Columbia Municipalities convention here.
The mayor urged the delegates to unite municipal officials from coast to coast, obtained pledges of support from candidates and make the condition of municipalities a fundamental issue.
"With all deference to those who talk about politicians and broken promises, my experience with men is that 85 per cent of them keep their promises," he said. "Unfortunately men in public life are often called on to make pledges which can only be kept by collective action. That is why so many promises are broken. If you municipal men unite in collective action you will get results."

INFLATION POSSIBILITIES
Referring to the speeches of Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, whom he called "the soundest of all the crib-dog statesmen in Canada," Mayor McGeer warned that the programme means inflation. He estimated that retiring pensions for persons over sixty years of age "would cost at least $300,000,000 a year and other proposed social reforms will run into enormous sums."
"How will all that be paid for?" he asked.
He declared recent orders-in-council fixing the minimum price of wheat at 87½ cents a bushel, without power to control the world price, will probably cost the government large sums.

"Of course it means inflation," he said. "It means inflation and controlled finance and Mr. Bennett knows it. We are moving forward to a new day."
BANK OF CANADA
The mayor proposed radical changes in the Bank of Canada, partly along lines which had been previously announced by the convention, to make possible municipal and provincial financing independently of the chartered banks.

NATIONAL GOVERNMENT
"I am not so sure that a national government is not the need in Canada today, but I would not like to commit myself on that just yet," said Mayor McGeer.

Mr. McGeer, who is a Liberal candidate in the federal constituency of Vancouver-Burrard, warned that "chaos and revolution are practical dangers if we can not solve our problems."
"The depression is not over yet,"
Mr. McGeer said when commenting on the question of national government. "The problem of maintaining law and order during the next few years will tax the financial resources of governments. The situation in Vancouver is still serious."
"The trouble to-day is party strife and partisanship and we will have to rise above that to survive."
"One of the needs is a supreme council for controlling banking and finance in Canada, a council which would have the same impartiality and power as the Supreme Court."
Mr. McGeer, who roused delegates to the highest pitch of enthusiasm since the convention opened, was given an ovation at the close of his address.

The coldest temperature ever recorded on this earth was 90 below zero.

JAPAN WANTS TO TRADE

THE STATEMENT ISSUED BY THE Japanese government yesterday throws a new light on the present unfortunate trading relations between Canada and Japan. Where the Canadian government had made it appear that Japan had taken a high-handed attitude and refused to consider any compromise on the question of currency depreciation, the Japanese Foreign Office indicates that it was prepared to go a long way to avoid a rupture in negotiations.

According to this official statement, Japan asks only that Canada accord its goods the same treatment as they are accorded in the United States. "Presumably," the statement says, "there exists little, if any difference in the standard of living of the workers between Canada and her neighbor, the United States. But the latter has not disposed any exchange compensation duty on Japanese goods and the trade relations of the two countries have been developing smoothly through a measure of control exercised by Japan on a few items of her exports."

Japan offered the same plan to Canada, the Foreign Office says, and proposed to send experts here to consult on details of the arrangement, but the offer was rejected. Its rejection, incidentally, meant the loss of about $9,000,000 a year to British Columbia and put our timber out of its third largest market.

Fortunately the present impasse between the Canadian and Japanese governments does not end the question. When the government at Ottawa changes in October, the new Liberal administration will certainly reopen negotiations with Japan. It should be possible to negotiate a settlement if Japan's attitude remains as it is outlined in the Foreign Office statement. When Canada has sold to Japan four times as much as it has bought there, the standard of Canadian living certainly has not suffered in the past and should not suffer from a same expansion of this trade. But Mr. Bennett's blasting powder is poor material for cementing commercial relations. After the election Canada will use a different approach on these problems.

FOREST TRAINING FOR YOUTH

COMMENDATION OF A SINCERE effort to take young men of British Columbia from the cities where they can not find work and train them for jobs in the logging industry of the province should be extended to British Columbia's departments of labor and of lands.

On similar lines to those of the Civilian Conservation Corps in the United States, 380 young men of British Columbia between the ages of twenty-one and twenty-five have been sent to Forest Experiment Stations at Cowichan Lake, Aleza Lake and the nursery at Green Timbers for training that will fit them to start work in logging camps. The experiment was made possible by a grant of $90,000 to the forest branch of the Department of Lands by the Department of Labor. The grant made it possible to employ the young men from the beginning of July to the end of September and pay them $1.75 per day, less seventy-five cents a day for board.

Although it is early yet to forecast complete success for the plan, it has already proved to have merit. As the men are taught to make themselves familiar with the use of tools they will be called upon to handle in the logging camps, they make some return for the money expended. Needed forest trail improvements, so necessary to cut down fire costs are made and valuable help given to forest rangers. The loss from forest fires in British Columbia has been too great. Lack of funds has particularly hampered prevention work. Thousands of miles of trails require maintenance and many telephone lines are out of commission. At least 1,000 men could be usefully employed by the forest service. The experiment promises a return to the government for expenditures made, and to the worker of his lost self-reliance, thus fitting him for securing regular employment.

Co-operation of the logging and milling men of the province has been an encouraging feature and officials of the department voice the opinion that the difficulty will not be in finding positions for the men, but in developing enough men suitable for the positions. It can hardly be expected, the department says, that out of say, 100 men in Coast camps, most of them from the cities and experienced, more than 40 per cent can be recommended for logging camp jobs in a season. This percentage, however, should make the experiment well worth while.

Thirty men have already been placed in jobs, and the important feature appears to be that these young men are working with an outlook and prospects before them in contrast with the purposeless existence, object of the greatest criticism levelled against ordinary unemployment camps.

THE LOST CAUSE

IN THE KIWANIS CLUB OF NEW YORK the other day a prominent business man leaped up to make a bold proposal. For sheer courage we have not heard its equal in modern times. Briefly, he proposed that during the hot and sticky New York summer, business men should go without their coats and vests. Apparently the sudden daring of the move swept all before it. The Kiwanis Club of New York instantly and unanimously pledged itself to rise up in revolt against an outworn convention, to wear no more coats or vests in the summer.

It was an inspiring spectacle, this revolt of the Kiwanians, in the true tradition of Valley Forge and the Boston Tea Party. It shows you that the spirit of '76 is not dead. But, looking over the press of the United States, we find that the new American Revolution is regarded by editors with a certain skepticism. One of them deprecates the impulsive haste with which the Kiwanians embarked on such a reckless adventure, burning their bridges and possibly their coats and vests as well, behind them. Such precipitous action, he says, may be all right for Congress when it is passing a new tax bill to soak the rich, but in the more serious aspects of life, in the matter of clothes, for example, it is dangerous.

The Christian Science Monitor raises another objection which strikes us as more valid. If coats and vests are to disappear in the hot summers of New York, the South and the parched Middle West, what, asks The Monitor, are men to do for pockets? Where will they carry watches, fountain pens, pencils, wallets, railway tickets, address books, driving licenses, pawn tickets, keys, baseball scores and letters given them by their wives to mail?

While this is a serious engineering problem, the resources of modern technology should be able to solve it. But modern technology might as well save its time and trouble. No solution will be necessary. All over the United States next winter we shall expect to see businessmen's clubs solemnly resolving to go without coats and vests next summer. We shall read of affecting vows and pledges to stand together in the face of fashion, the common enemy. We shall expect to hear that the great armies of revolt are ready for the spring offensive, every man ready to die for the cause, in his shirt sleeves. And by next July at the latest business men everywhere will be wearing coats and vests again. The cause is already lost and apparently always has been.

AN ISLAND PIONEER

IT TURNS OUT NOW THAT THE deadly black widow spider, which was commonly supposed to dwell only on the mainland, has lived on the island for a long time. W. Downes, Dominion Entomologist, reports it is one of the island's oldest timers. Probably it was living here long before the white men came.

Apparently, therefore, the black widow's reputation has been maligned. So far as we have heard, there is no record of anyone on the island being poisoned by one of the species. On the whole, from what we have read and been able to gather on the subject from the movies and magazines, we should say that of all widows this is the least dangerous of the species. The black sort seem to mind their own business and bother no one, but the white ones, we have heard, are expert and remorseless in the capture of prisoners who, once caught, seldom escape.

It may be, however, that our island has had its customary effect on the black widow. On the mainland it probably is venomous and dangerous. The climate over there has the same effect on many forms of life—politics, for example. But the island atmosphere seems to exercise a soothing and moderating effect on all living things, from the human to the insect, so that we have no deadly creatures of any sort to trouble us. We have only pests. Not all of them are insects.

A WORTH-WHILE SURVEY

THE FRONTIER OF MEDICAL KNOW- ledge should be pushed back appreciably by one of the relief undertakings presently to be launched from Washington. Some 5,000 unemployed "white collar" workers will go out during October to start ringing doorbells and asking people how they have been feeling during the last year. Before they get through, they expect to get a comprehensive idea of health conditions among fully 3,000,000 citizens.

Thus, for the first time in medical history, it will be known just how diseases and disabilities are distributed throughout the country by geographical divisions, by age, by sex, and by occupation. The U.S. Public Health Service expects this knowledge to be of vast importance. Here, evidently, is at least one case in which relief expenditures are going to bring in a worth-while return.

Just Folks

by Edgar A. Guest

WEALTH

Wealth is iron, steel and grain.
Forest land and fertile plain;
Food and raiment, gears and springs.
All designed for making things.
These in dollars and in cents
Money merely represents;
These are riches once disclosed
On which taxes are imposed.

There are other forms of wealth
Never taxed, and one is health,
God's best blessing, without which
No man living's truly rich.
Love's another. High and low
Happy are if this they know;
Next the joy of life depends
On the constancy of friends.

Rich are they who earn and keep
For the night the boon of sleep
And possess the rage delight
Of an unspiced appetite;
Good repute and conscience clear
Gain in value year by year.
Here is wealth-in part or whole,
Legislatures can't control.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

JUST ANOTHER ACCIDENT
The Stratford Beacon-Herald

Woman is in the Barrie hospital following an auto wreck... fractured left leg... fractured right knee... fractured upper jaw... lacerations of both eyes and tongue. If some individual had attacked the woman and inflicted such injuries there would be a cry to high heaven for justice swift and certain. As it is, the story gets seven lines in the newspaper. Just another accident.

"SURE-FIRE MOSES?"
The Winnipeg Tribune

Harry Stevens may be heaven-sent to lead the Canadian people out of their difficulties. The people are willing to hear and have shown it. Looking signs and portents, however, they can hardly be expected to take him on faith, and so far he has made little appeal to reason. Unless and until he produces more than vague promises to heal the country's sickness, and give some indication of practical proposals to accomplish his altogether worthy aims, the new party is unlikely to make any deep impression.

COLUMN THREE

5,000-YEAR-OLD MAN "ASSEMBLED"
THE WORLD'S oldest mummy, carefully placed together after lying in fragments for years, is now one of the "star" exhibits in London's most gruesome museum.

Five thousand years ago, what is now a shell of blackened and crinkled skin, walked and talked and feasted—a man of wealth and power, a member of nobility, strutting his way through the strange life of ancient Egypt.

To-day this shrunken relic of antiquity lies in a glass case in the mummy room of the Royal College of Surgeons, in Lincoln's Inn Fields.

It is believed that he is—or was—Ra Nefer, a nobleman of the "Old Kingdom" of Egypt, but experts are not sure.

"All we know is that it is a Fifth Dynasty mummy from the tomb of Ra Nefer, discovered by Sir Flinders Petrie," explained Dr. A. J. E. Cave, assistant conservator of the museum, to me.

"Of course we know he is a nobleman because only the leading men of ancient Egypt were mummified in those days. Whoever he was, there seems little doubt that he is the oldest intact mummy so far discovered in the world."

Ra Nefer is now the "star" exhibit in a real chamber of horrors.

In a vast hall on a lower floor where the college authorities keep their pathological specimens, there are glass jars filled with preserving liquid and containing sections of every part of the human anatomy.

Dreadful as it appears, the collection is of great value to students, physicians, surgeons and nurses. The process of every disease can be studied there.

Some people have wondered why a 5,000-year-old mummy should have a place in the collection. The interest in it lies in the fact that for thousands of years there were people in Egypt who were accustomed to removing the internal organs of the body before embalming it.

In effect, this old mummification practice paved the way for the scientific exploration of the human body.

POLITICAL BOUQUETS WITH THORNS
IF YOU have ambitions of becoming a politician, clip the following paragraphs and file them away for use as models of how to do it on those occasions which call to the gracious politician for bouquets with thorns. The quotations are from the verbatim report of the Congressional Record at Washington, D.C., of the ship subsidy debate.

Senator Black: "I am sorry I cannot make the senator see it. I presume it is my inability to express myself clearly, because I know the senator's keen and logical mind, and I therefore attribute all that to myself. However, knowing what I do about it, I know he is wrong."

Senator Bailey: "I am very grateful for the senator's kindly suggestion. I know that all my shortcomings and those of everyone else may be attributed to him because he has such a great excess of virtue that he could spare a little for the others of us."

Senator Black: "I am sorry the senator does not need any of it. He has a halo, a glorious halo, around his head. It has been there for many years. Far be it from me to attempt to snatch one star from that diadem of holy and honest virtue. Therefore, I return his compliment. That being concluded, I shall now return to the discussion of issues before the Senate."

"POETRY" WITH YOUR POLITICS
THEN YOUR comeliest politician, judging from this same Congressional Record, senses a duty to the muse of poetry. In the House, Representative Randolph, on the debate on the bill to investigate food distribution, introduced these lines:

"The doctor heals and the lawyer pleads,
"And the miner follows precious leads;
"But this or that, whatever befall,
The farmer, he must feed them all."
Representative McFarlane (begging permission to submit another poem "in keeping with thought and subject"):

"Princes and lords may flourish and may fade;
"A breath can make them, as a breath hath made.
"But a bold yeomanry, the country pride,
"When once destroyed can never be supplied."

Mr. Randolph: "I thank the gentleman; and in this connection may I add that perhaps the deliberations of this body might be a little more pleasant for members here and the readers of the Congressional Record if in the very seriousness of the debates we interspersed these gems—Well, mayhap."

LOYD GEORGE'S FUTURE

WILL MR. LLOYD GEORGE join with Labor to form a fighting front at the next British general election?

This is one of the questions that have been asked following a speech which he made to the National Trade Union Club.

The club gave a luncheon in his honor and Mr. Lloyd George took the opportunity of explaining his New Deal proposals.

Coming to the problems confronting the country at present, he made two or three remarks, which have caused interesting speculation in political circles.

Although he did not, however, give a direct hint of a Liberal-Labor alliance, he referred to the future as depending more on the Laborites than on any other section of the community.

"To be quite frank," he added, "you cannot do it alone. Everyone knows that. You must carry with you a large mass of opinion that is in sympathy with your main proposals but would not go with you to the point which you ultimately hope to reach."

It was no use, he added later, having people who would rather see the world damned than it should be saved by or with the help of anybody who was not an orthodox member of their "true doctrine."

The London Daily Herald points out that this virtually means that the position is unchanged. Mr. Lloyd George is anxious to amalgamate with the Socialists but thinks himself too old now.

Meanwhile, The Manchester Guardian sees in the remarks a desire on the part of Mr. Lloyd George to "see how the land lies" in order to offer to unite providing the Socialists are prepared to give in a little to Liberal opinion.

On the contrary, The Daily Express describes the speech as a "frank offer to form a fighting front with Labor at the next election."

RUSBOY WITH A FORTUNE

THE FIRST sidewalk cafe of New York, though pretty closely screened by shrubbery, is the old Royal on Second Avenue. It has prospered for something like two generations, and apparently always will. Prosperous, too, is Herman of the Royal, the owner, chef, or even the head waiter. Herman is a busy boy, the busboy, in fact, and has been for twenty-two years. If he could read or write he would have been a waiter, and that would have been a fortunate for Herman, who as a busboy has laid aside a tidy fortune and educated two sons—one at Harvard, one at West Point.

Herman gets generous tips when, while helping patrons into their coats, he complains politely about the sad state of business and the shocking ingratitude of the average diner. But the way he has made most of his money is cashing cheques for customers—and for a small fee. It is said that he always carries $1,000 in his pocket for cheque-cashing purposes. It is said, too, that Herman never has lost a nickel by misjudgment of a client.

BETTER AS INDOOR SPORT

SPEAKING of sidewalk cafes, the efforts to popularize them in a big way in New York during the last couple of years has not been marked with much success. Nobody on lower Fifth Avenue—or in the other sections the proprietors confess that at fresco drinking and dining was only a noble experiment.

The trouble is that Manhattan just isn't Paris, nor yet Vienna. After a time one finds it impossible to pretend that the dust in one's soup is freshly-ground pepper, or that the all-enveloping carbon monoxide is perfume from adjacent gardens. There is another important difference, too; much of the daytime leisure indulged by New Yorkers is strictly illicit. A fellow with a job would rather head for a dark corner in an air-cooled cocktail den than sit at a sidewalk table in full view of any passing boss, or wife, or creditor.

HARPO AND HARPS

HARPO MARX still owes for his first harp. At least, he owes the final instalments on it. The comedian bought the harp when he was eighteen and from it got his name. The harp company burned down before he finished paying for the instrument and both Harpo and the collectors forgot about the instalments until long afterwards. By that time, the company was rather pleased than otherwise to have the famous Marx owing them such a debt.

Browne and Buckwell, the firm which furnished that early harp to Harpo, have been building fine harps since 1838. They have made about 3,500 in all. There is one Buckwell left, a distinguished, grey-mustached man who has been in the business for forty-five years.

To make a harp—it's all done by hand—takes three months. The secret of a fine mellow tone is the sounding board or curved side held next to the player. This is always made of spruce, which must not vary a fraction of an inch from the proper thickness.

Only after all the woodwork is carved and gilded can the strings be set on. Browne and Buckwell turn out about fifty instruments a year in good times. Rich people with high-ceilinged rooms have been known to buy as many as three harps for one room. The cheapest costs $400, and $35,000 buys quite a nice one.

Other People's Views

SHOWBOAT HOLIDAY

To the Editor:—It would have seemed good policy on the part of the Tourist Trade committee to withhold their hand concerts during the week of the fair. They have had all summer to give their entertainments and it seemed hardly necessary that they continue during the seven days that the fair operates in the year.

Also many exhibitors at the fair have donated money to the Tourist Trade Development movement. Now, it hardly seems reasonable to assume that these exhibitors would wish the citizens of Victoria drawn from their exhibits and displays at the fair which they have spent a great deal of time and money to put together.

TOURISTS AND VICTORIA MANNERS

To the Editor:—In regard to the matter of attracting tourists to Victoria, now that the season is drawing to a close, it would appear that this is a good time to consider what calls for improvement or readjustment. An experience of my own points to one matter in which change is called for. A little time ago a taxi, with four women visitors and the driver, drew up at my gate; it appeared that the visitors admired the garden and wished to ask some questions as to the plants and their methods of growth, all of which information I was glad to give. During the proceedings, I regret to say, the language and manner of the driver, was most objectionable and discourteous. In fact, it would be no exaggeration to say that he was insolent and insulting as he very well could be. In the end, as I had had enough, and for the sake of his passengers, who were getting more and more uncomfortable, I had to

Air Stewardess

But she had not taken Stephen's feeling into consideration, as she was to discover. They were at luncheon at Lakeside and the quiet clubhouse with its shady veranda and landscaped background was restful and charming. They sat by a window in the dining-room where only one other table was occupied. Stephen had ordered cocktails and as they touched glasses Stephen said, "To my sweet-heart!"

For Steve to become sentimental now, just when she had decided not to see him again, was too much. Irene slipped her amber liquid without commenting but contentation was in her heart. Stephen did not make such remarks lightly. In all the weeks she had known him, he had kept their relationship unromantically affectionate. It had been his chief charm that he could be fond of her and want to be with her so often without expecting to make love.

Throughout the luncheon, which was perfect as everything connected with him was perfect, they chatted impersonally but Irene suspected that a crisis was approaching. It would be better if she could tell him her decision first. Then he would realize how she felt without committing himself.

When they had left the clubhouse and were back in his car, she said, "I've something to tell you, too." His attitude was making it difficult for her, but she said firmly, "I hope you won't think I don't appreciate all the lovely things you've done for me, but I've decided it will be better if we don't see each other again."

Stephen's grey eyes were so unexpecting that it hurt to look at them. "Do you mean that we're getting too involved?"

"Not exactly," she stammered, "but, oh, what does matter what my reason is? I just think it would be better, that's all."

"I think I know what's in your mind," he said then quietly. "You don't want to hurt Peggy."

She could not lie to him so she said nothing.

"A blind man could see that Bart is crazy about you," he continued, "but I've decided you don't return it. Am I right?"

She nodded.

"But not any more," Stephen cried triumphantly. "Well, then there is no reason I shouldn't speak for myself. I'm in love with you, too."

"Oh, Steve, don't be! You are such a darling. I like you so much."

He had stopped the car and put his arm about her and his voice was ragged with emotion, as she had never thought Steve's voice could be.

"I want to marry you. You are my ideal woman. I knew it the first day I saw you on that plane."

If only she might have given him the answer he craved. The answer he deserved.

"I can't," she said miserably. "Do you mean that there is some one else?"

"No! There isn't anyone I care for enough to marry," she confessed. "It's my work. I went into it because I thought my heart was broken but now I love it for itself."

She threw back her head, and he could not doubt the enthusiasm shining in her eyes.

"It's the most wonderful profession in the world. I couldn't give it up for anyone."

"But you wouldn't have to give it up, dear. We could travel by plane together. Take our honeymoon in the air."

"It wouldn't be the same. I'd just be a passenger then, but this way it's my job. I'm part of it. It's in my blood."

His face was sad.

"I'm sorry, Irene. I know you mean it but what about the future? Three years from now, when you're over

His face was sad.

"I'm sorry, Irene. I know you mean it but what about the future? Three years from now, when you're over twenty-five your career as an air stewardess will be ended."

"Time enough to think about that when it comes," she declared. "I may not live that long."

"Then you do realize the dangers you are in?"

"I never think of it, Steve. If we crash we crash, but the chances are against it."

"If you do, I suppose you think it would be worth it."

"That's it exactly. But I want you to understand that if I were going to marry anyone, I'd like for it to be you."

"In that case, I shan't take your refusal too seriously," Stephen said, starting the car.

"But, I'm not going to see you again!"

"Why aren't you?"

"I told you."

"That's no reason," he insisted. "I'll see you alone when Bart and Peggy aren't around. If you think you can break with me for such a reason as that, you're crazy."

"But it won't work, Peggy won't understand."

"Probably not! Peggy is very fond of you."

Irene was not certain of that, but she had noticed that Peggy was deliberately imitating Ruth Chatterton. Since someone had inadvertently given her the idea, every move the girl made seemed to be with the actress in mind.

"I'm a little worried about Peggy," Irene said. "She goes down to the hotels and smokes in the lobbies alone."

"Is that such a crime?" Steve asked indulgently.

"It isn't good for a girl to be sitting around in hotels. Do you think so?"

"No, I don't. But if you knew Peggy as I do, you'd realize it's just another fancy which she will get over more quickly if nothing is said. She will be as stubborn as a mule if we make an issue of it, but, if left alone, the chances are she will tire of that as quickly as she has of her habits."

Irene hoped he was right, but it was his private opinion that it was this attitude on the part of Peggy's father and brother which had made her so undisciplined. She couldn't imagine her little sister Betty getting by with such things.

Robert Gardner was an adoring parent, but if he had caught his eighteen year old offspring hanging around hotel lobbies with a cigarette in her mouth, he would have taken her home and peddled her.

There was something to be said. Irene decided, for the old-fashioned system of bringing up children. Her parents had been unselfish and loving, but there were some things their children had known better than try. While the daughter of a famous intellectual person like Dr. Stephen Reagan was allowed to work out her own salvation with a lack of restraint Irene considered pitiful.

It was after 4 when Stephen took her back to the apartment, and she refused to see him that night saying, "I'll see you occasionally if you like, but it will be better for us not to be together too often."

The disappointment on his face hurt her, but she was determined to free herself from any further connection with Bart and Peggy. And she had spent so much time with Stephen she never had a chance to do anything with anyone else. It would be fun for a change just in case someone did ask her. . . . Even to herself she said no name, but her heart pounded when she was summoned to the telephone.

CHAPTER XX

The voice on the telephone was Peggy's. In one of her overly enthusiastic moods she gushed, "I was just thinking about you. Wondering what you were doing."

Since Peggy had never telephoned before for such a reason, Irene assumed that she was checking up. It was Saturday again and Bart's afternoon off. Peggy probably wanted to know if Bart was spending it with her.

"I had lunch with Stephen," Irene explained, feeling sorry for the younger girl. "We just got home."

"When do you start working again?" "To-morrow, Peggy! Why?"

Peggy gave an affected laugh. "Oh, no particular reason. I just wondered. Do you go to Los Angeles?"

"No. I'll be going to Seattle."

"I see! Well, I want you to have lunch with me again, but we can arrange that later."

Having learned what she wanted to know, she made no further pretense of continuing the conversation and Irene hung up, wondering what it was all about.

Was Bart flying to Los Angeles? Did Peggy suspect that they might be going on the same plane, or was her question concerning the schedule merely to find out when Irene would be out of town?

It was just as well that she wasn't going to see him any more. Nothing but heartache for everyone concerned if she continued the association. Irene's head felt lighter than it had for weeks as she went into the bedroom and changed into a house dress for a quiet evening at home.

ROMANCE AWHEEL

More young women now spend their leisure cycling in Britain than ever before—and hundreds of them find their machines a way to romance.

An official of the Cyclists' Touring Club said: "We have 36,000 men and women members and the number is growing at the rate of 200 and 300 new members a week."

"What is most interesting is the tandem's return to popularity. Often a man and a girl will join separately. Soon they meet—and then many sell their machines and buy a tandem."

"Girls love cycling because it is a

Seven spinners, each at his or her own wheel, spun a sample hank of British Columbia wool, which had been grown by Mr. Ingram of Galiano Island, and was of the cross Cheviot variety.
At the end of the allotted time, Mr. Hastie Cochran, the judge, inspected the wool and announced Mrs. I. Thomson as the winner of the prize. Mrs. Arnold's hank was classed a close second. Mrs. Thomson's wool was exceptionally fine, the evenness of the girth being commented upon by the judge, who pronounced it a good example of weaving for the loom.
Others taking part in the contest were Mrs. V. B. MacLachlan, Mrs. William Feden, Mrs. W. F. I. Findlay, Mrs. Howell and Mrs. I. Arnold.
Mrs. J. L. White presented the book

VARSAITY CLUB AIDS STUDENT

University Women Vote $200 Loan For U.B.C. Student

The University Women's Club opened its winter season yesterday afternoon with a well attended business meeting at the Y.W.C.A., the principal piece of business being the granting of a loan of $200 to a student of the University of British Columbia to help her to continue her studies.

This action was in conformity with the club's policy of helping deserving students, to which end the club also annually provides a bursary valued at $100.

Dr. Olga Jardine, the president, who was in the chair, drew the members' attention to the need of funds to replenish the club's treasury, which with the bursary, the loan and other current obligations has been denuded of about $350. It was therefore decided to hold the annual tea in aid of the fund early in October.

A tentative programme for the winter activities was discussed, one of the recommendations suggesting the formation of a study group to take up the study of current events or modern poetry.

Miss Mary Scott, the recording secretary, read the minutes of the last general meeting, and Miss L. Archibald, acting for the corresponding secretary, Mrs. Norman Cook, who was unavoidably absent, read some correspondence.

Tea was served prior to the business session, when a number of new members were welcomed. About fifty were present.

George McMorran gave the club the use of his pavilion for the evening. Jack Carter and his orchestra supplied the music.
The club wishes to express their sincere gratitude to all who helped to make the dance a success, and especially Miss Ruth Whitehead, who was one of the most ardent workers.

BRILLIANT TRIO TO GIVE RECITAL

In an article in a Christchurch, New Zealand, paper of recent date is a tribute to the talent displayed by Mary and Adele Bucklin, cellist and violinist, respectively, which reads: "Here we have a trio (with Frederick Page, pianist) that seems to combine precision, musicality, feeling and vitality. The Beethoven trio was magnificent. The first movement was almost too good to be true."
When Misses Bucklin appear at the Empress Hotel on Wednesday, September 18, in joint recital, music lovers of Victoria will appreciate the artistry and ensemble playing of these three brilliant young artists.
The concert is under the management of Mrs. J. O. Cameron and will be given at 8:30 p.m. on Wednesday, September 18.

ASKS WOMEN TO USE VOTE

D. B. Plunkett Urges Conservatives to Return Bennett to Power

An appeal to all Conservative women to make every effort to secure the return of Premier B. B. Bennett and his government at the forthcoming election was made by D. B. Plunkett, federal candidate, before the Women's Conservative Club yesterday evening.

After extolling the leadership of Premier Bennett who, he declared had shown himself, during the crisis of the last few years, to be a greater man than ever before, Mr. Plunkett touched upon the relief camp situation.

He reminded the audience that there had been no idea of making these permanent institutions when they started; they were instituted merely as an emergency measure to provide a home for unemployed single men so that they would not be cast on the streets.

Government responsibility in looking after the unemployed had enormously increased during the last two or three decades, with corresponding criticism.

C. H. Dickie, Conservative candidate for the Nanaimo federal riding, also spoke in praise of Premier Bennett, who, he said, had practically given his life to the country, and in every way showed a sincere desire to put himself and his personal interests entirely on one side in order the better to serve Canada.

Mrs. Kate Palmer, the president, occupied the chair. A number of routine matters were discussed in the general meeting.

The annual meeting of the women's club has been postponed until two weeks after the central executive holds its postponed meeting. The next social meeting of the club, on Thursday, September 26, will be addressed by speakers to be announced later.

AUTHORS HEAR EX-YUKONER

Mrs. F. G. Burten Among Interesting Speakers at Meeting Last Night

A colorful programme was given last evening, at the September meeting of Victoria and Island branch Canadian Authors' Association, Miss M. Eugenie Perry presided.

Miss Perry announced that the Poetry Year Book, arranged by the poetry group of Victoria and Island branch, under the sponsorship of Mrs. E. G. Ferne, and which is being printed locally, will be ready for distribution at the October meeting.

It was also a matter of interest to members to learn that Victoria has four representatives on the Dominion executive of the Canadian Authors' Association—Mrs. Nellie McClung, vice-president, who is also vice-president of Victoria and Island branch; Major P. V. Longstaff, Mr. J. P. Hicks and Miss M. Eugenie Perry.

An instructive craft talk by Miss Dorothy Crighton on "The Writing and Selling of Plays and Stories for Children," was heard with interest.

Delightful interludes throughout the evening were contributed by Miss Phyllis Deaville, who sang, accompanied by Miss Audrey Wood, her poem setting to Liszt's "Consolation."

Miss Wood also accompanied Miss Deaville in two other vocal numbers, "In Autumn" and "Gay Buttery." Master Leslie Clarke recited "Lost Leader" (Browning), and "The Moon's Up" (Alfred Noyes).

"Dawn, Yesterday and To-day," was the title of a reminiscent talk by Mrs. F. G. Burten, who gave in colorful panorama a series of clear pictures of her early experiences and first impressions of the magnetic north.

The description of the scenery, the climate, the warm hearts and generous co-operation of the people, all made a thrilling and vibrant story, with a fascination hard to define, but very real to all good old Yukoners.

The meeting welcomed from Vancouver W. Dalton, who read from the published poems of his wife, Annie Charlotte Dalton, who has been appropriately called "the poet-laureate of the defeated world."

J. P. Hicks, in thanking Mr. Dalton, referred to the living poem which exists in the mutual devotion of Mr. and Mrs. Dalton in the sunset of life, and the value of the interpretation of the poet's thoughts as given by Mr. Dalton.

Following the meeting a discussion of the forthcoming national convention of Canadian Authors' Association to be held in Vancouver, with tentative arrangements for the part Victoria might play in the entertainment of the visiting writers, was entered into.

LANGFORD

On Sunday-afternoon a match will be played on the local courts between members of the Victoria Tennis Club and Langford players in the third division of the South Vancouver Island Tennis League.

Commencing on Sunday, September 15, the evening service in St. Matthew's Church will be held at 7 o'clock for the autumn and winter months. Instead of at 7:30 o'clock. Sunday school will be held each Sunday at 10 o'clock.

Mrs. L. Powers, who has been spending a vacation in Vancouver, has returned to Langford Lodge, Langford Lake.

Discussion of various needed improvements was made and the house committee empowered to order the matter of roof repairs to be attended to before the winter weather. Mrs. Finmore reported for visiting St. Joseph's Hospital during the summer months. Sailor patients had received various little attentions and appreciated gifts. A jersey supplied by Miss de Trafford from the women's supplies on hand had been gratefully received, also a gift of socks. Madame Claudet reported for the Jubilee, where the sailor patients were reported to be improving. Miss de Trafford showed a balance of ten Jersey and seventeen pairs of socks on hand, and a number of friends knitting for the Institute. Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELKORD

LET CANDY HAVE NATURAL, NOT ARTIFICIAL, APPEAL TO CHILD

The use of candy as a bribe or a reward is often to blame for the child's increasing regard for it. Candy is almost always a well liked food, but once it is elevated to the place where it seems firmly connected with being good, or acting nicely, or doing as one is told, it is no longer looked upon with natural but with an exaggerated esteem.

Some mothers turn thumbs down on candy, as if it were poison, while others allow their children the freedom of the candy box, both attitudes being conducive to a misunderstanding of the harmless and normal place of sweets in the diet.

CANDY HUNGRY GIRL
Candy is highly nourishing. Its nourishment is quickly absorbed into the body. But it is just one element, and a balanced diet is made up of proteins, fats and minerals as well as of sugar and starch (carbohydrates) the particular element represented by candy.

"Mine isn't a baby any longer," writes Mrs. G. J. M., "for she is nine years old and thin and nervous. She just craves candy. We do buy it for her once in a while, but she wants it every day, and we know that isn't good for her. What would you advise us to do?"

CHILD GETS FRUITS
"My husband was unemployed this spring, but now has a job. We have our own garden and the child gets fruits and vegetables as they come along. She gets plenty of fresh air because she sleeps on a porch. But candy is what she wants. She is also a bad writer."

For a self addressed and stamped envelope sent to Myrtle Meyer Elkord of the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper, you may have leaflets on "Help in the Management of Bad Writing," and "Desirable Sweets for the Young Child." Have an examination made of the child's urine to rule out any pathological conditions before putting any of these suggestions into practice.

MAKE CANDY
Perhaps this thin child does need more sugar and starch in the diet. Vegetables and fruits belong in every good diet, but they are low in caloric value, and so contribute needed nourishment of a kind, but do not put on fat. Our leaflets on "Diet from Eight to Twelve" will show you the usual constituents of the diet for this age.

Why not, though, let the child make some simple candies and eat a piece or two after the noon and night meal? In this position they are not in the least harmful and may contribute sufficient extra nourishment to overcome the thinness and accompanying nervousness.

To-morrow: "If You Are Adopting a Child, It Is Wise to Make No Secret of It."

HUGE GIFT TO CHURCH WORK

Mrs. T. E. Bissell of Guelph Gives $100,000 For Missions as Memorial

Canadian Press
Edmonton, Sept. 13.—Nearly one-third of a gift of $100,000 for United Church missionary work will come to Edmonton for the erection and maintenance of a new church building for the All People's Mission, according to an announcement made by Rev. Dr. R. B. Cochran, Toronto, secretary of home missions for the United Church of Canada, at a meeting of the Edmonton presbytery yesterday.

Mrs. T. E. Bissell of Guelph, Ont., is the donor of the gift, of which $20,000 is for foreign missions and $80,000 for home missions, the total gift to be a memorial to her late husband.

By the terms of the gift, $25,000 is to be expended on a new All People's Church building, while the interest on an additional $5,000 is to be applied to its maintenance.

Dr. Cochran also announced that $25,000 has been earmarked by the donor as a bursary fund for ministers' children in the west, and an equal sum to be used in the erection of new United churches in the northern parts of the prairie provinces.

CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS.

A Great Agency of Public Service.

The C. N. R. is one of the world's greatest transportation systems. Its length of track alone entitles it to that distinction, but its chief claim rests upon the nature and extent of the services it renders. While entering practically every important centre in Canada it also serves widely diversified and distant areas, and in very many instances is the sole agency providing railway facilities.

The C. N. R. is a large direct employer of labour, and indirectly, by virtue of the nature of its freight and other services, also enters importantly and indispensably into the commercial and industrial activities of the Dominion... creating new wealth... distributing raw and manufactured goods... enabling more employment and wages to be provided.

Notwithstanding the sparsely populated condition of much of the territory from which the C. N. R. obtains its freights of grains, minerals, forest products, etc., its charges for haulage are very low... Canadian railway freight rates are probably the lowest in the world. On an average the C. N. R. receives less than one cent for hauling a ton of freight one mile.

Of every dollar of revenue received the C. N. R. pays more than one half to its employees as wages, and it purchases every year many millions of dollars worth of Canadian made or produced materials. The C. N. R. also pays in the course of a year over six million dollars in various taxes.

These facts, although thus briefly stated, are of tremendous importance to Canada and Canadians. They are here presented in the hope that greater patronage will follow a wider appreciation of the part this great railway system is performing in the commerce and development of the Dominion... and of its vast potentialities for future service. Standing as we are at the beginning of an upward swing in business generally, renewed and enlarged opportunities to use transportation facilities present themselves. The C. N. R. is ready and anxious to serve... efficiently and economically. Its departments embrace passenger and freight transportation, express, telegraphs, steamships and hotels.

During the present season the C. N. R. is providing special fares and excursions between points throughout Canada. These are exceptional travel bargains. The nearest C. N. R. Agent will be glad to give full particulars.

Cowichan Fall Fair Is Opened

Sixty-seventh Annual Show Declared Open By Col. H. D. McLaughlin; Exhibits Well Up to Standard With Gorgeous Blooms on Display; Domestic Science Awards Made

Special to The Times
Duncan, Sept. 13.—Cowichan Agricultural Society's sixty-seventh annual fall fair is open today in the Agricultural Hall and grounds. The fair was formally opened by Lieut.-Colonel H. D. McLaughlin, president of the society, at 2 o'clock before a large number of visitors.

The hall presented a most pleasing appearance, the display of fruit, flowers and vegetables being most attractive. Entries in all classes are well up to standard, except, perhaps, the fruit, which was affected by the late frosts this spring. Ladies' work, photographs and art, however, showed a considerable increase over the last two years.

The commercial displays of gorgeous blooms by R. M. Palmer, Cowichan Bay; Layritz Nurseries, Victoria; Saunders, Hillbank, and Croeland Brothers, Duncan, and small displays by F. B. Carbery, Duncan, and T. Doney were much admired.

This afternoon a gymkhana was scheduled, and this evening folk dancing by the Duncan school children, and the Elks' carnival will be the principal attractions. On Saturday there will be loggers' sports, tug-of-war and Highland dancing, ending with a dance in the E. of F. Hall.

Judges in the various classes were: Horses, Dr. M. Sparrow; cattle, W. Hunter; sheep and swine, T. K. Harrop; field produce, garden produce, fruit, E. W. White; flowers, G. Robinson; dairy produce and honey, W. Haggard; domestic science, Mrs. Selrup and Mrs. E. H. Peterson; ladies' work, Mrs. J. D. Gordon; art, Mrs. Smith-Hood; photographs, H. Tyss; children's work, Mrs. F. W. Stanhope.

Wheels Taken From Two Cars

Thieves Steal Tools Then Take Rear Wheels and Tires at Willows

Oak Bay police to-day were investigating two unusual thefts from cars parked on Mowat Street, outside the Willows Exhibition grounds yesterday evening.
Two motorists who parked their machines to attend the exhibition returned to find their cars with only three wheels and the machines on one side, resting on the axle.

According to police the thefts were committed by probably two persons who first stole a screw jack, monkey wrench, spanner, and screwdriver from a car owned by H. A. Lettard, 443 Logan Avenue, and Joe Pollano, 1813 Wilkeson Road.

Using the stolen tools they then took the left rear wheel and tire and right rear wheel and tire, respectively, from cars owned by Mrs. W. Hankin, 43 Logan Avenue, and Joe Pollano, 1813 Wilkeson Road.
In connection with the thefts the Oak Bay police have issued a warning to car owners to use care as to where they park their cars and to see that their cars are securely locked.

D. B. PLUNKETT LAUNCHES FIGHT

Sitting Member Will Appeal For Re-election at Meeting To-night

The formal campaign of D. B. Plunkett, seeking re-election as the Conservative member for Victoria, will be opened with a rally in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium this evening at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Plunkett has been addressing ward meetings, but this will be his first major rally. Senator W. A. Griesbach of Edmonton and R. L. Maitland, K.C., of Vancouver, will speak in support of the candidate.

Senator Griesbach has long been prominent in Canadian life, first as a soldier and afterwards in politics. He was elected to the House of Commons in 1917 and went into the Senate in 1921.

Mr. Maitland was minister without portfolio in the Toimie government of B.C. and is a fluent speaker.

FIGHT AIRED IN SAANICH COURT
An argument between two boat owners at Brentwood, which resulted in a fistie encounter, was aired in the Saanich Police Court yesterday when William Thorne appeared before Magistrate Jay, charged with assaulting John T. Cocking, occasioning actual bodily harm.

A counter-charge was laid by the defendant against Mr. Cocking. W. T. Strath appeared for Mr. Thorne and Fred C. Elliott for the original complainant.

Rivalry between the two men in the hiring out of their boats for fishing parties was the cause of the alleged fight, Cocking alleging Thorne to be the aggressor, while the latter charges the complainant was responsible.

Several witnesses were heard yesterday, Court was adjourned until 2 o'clock this afternoon when Mr. Elliott will proceed with cross-examination of Thorne and arguments by counsel will be heard.

Social Crediters To Contest B.C.
Douglas Supporters Plan Candidates in Number of Federal Ridings

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Sept. 13.—Vancouver supporters of social credit as laid down by Major C. H. Douglas, English economist, decided at a meeting yesterday evening to contest seats in British Columbia where no other candidate will endorse the principle of a national dividend as laid down by Douglas.

From information at hand, it was indicated at least some of the Vancouver federal constituencies would be contested.

The number of constituencies to be contested throughout the province will depend both on the attitude of other candidates and on the progress of organization work, financial and otherwise.

Those who attended the meeting yesterday evening are supporters of the Douglas dividend, which is proposed to be based on increasing purchasing power and must not involve increased taxes, nor cause inflation nor deprive anyone of his property, it was stated.

The organization being formed has no connection with the Alberta party of Premier Aberhart, from whose programme the Douglas theory varies in certain respects.

Constituency organizations for Vancouver ridings were set up.

C.C.F. IDEA IS $4,000 A YEAR

Raised Standard of Living Would Raise Individual's Returns, Says Woodworth

Canadian Press
Lethbridge, Alta., Sept. 13.—Reforms proposed by Prime Minister Bennett could not be brought into effect without a change in the present capitalistic system, J. S. Woodworth, Co-operative Commonwealth Federation leader, said in an address here yesterday evening.

The aim of the C.C.F. was to change the whole present capitalistic system so the people should benefit, he stated. It stood for the raising of the standard of living of the people both in the city and on the farms, making available for the individual $4,000 a year instead of what was the present average of $1,000 a year.

It was rather serious, the C.C.F. leader asserted, that the first official step of Premier Aberhart of Alberta was to try to obtain credit outside the province instead of creating, according to the Social Credit platform, its own credit.

British Columbia Launches Plan To Put Young Men On Payrolls

With little publicity to herald the fact, a practical plan of training unemployed young men of British Columbia to take their part in industry as trained workers, worthy of a place on a payroll, has been embarked upon with a promising measure of success.

The programme is smaller than it is hoped it will eventually be, but at the present time 380 young men are at three British Columbia Forest Experimental Stations in British Columbia going through the preliminary training which promises to make them fitted for skilled jobs in logging camps.

AT COWICHAN LAKE

On Vancouver Island the young men are stationed at the Experimental Station at Cowichan Lake. On the mainland there are camps at Alsea Lake and Green Timbers.

Although the plan only got underway in July many of the men have received sufficient training to lift them from the class of greenhorns and have secured jobs in logging camps.

Sixteen have been graduated from the station at Cowichan to lumber company payrolls.

Assurance of more jobs have been given as soon as the men are qualified to take them.

The plan is similar to that of the civilian conservation corps of the United States which enrolled 600,000 young men and was hailed as one of the most successful unemployment measures adopted in that country.

The British Columbia plan was made possible when the Labor Department allotted to the forestry branch of the Department of Lands $80,000 for the employment of single young men in useful jobs with the object of helping to fit them for jobs.

Most of them selected were between twenty-one and twenty-five years of age who needed work and had been resident in the province for ten years and possessed at least partial High School education.

Nearly all of them are young Canadians and the plan, it is believed, will direct more English-speaking workers to the forests of British Columbia to become producers in the great industry of logging.

Experienced forest rangers and foremen in sympathy with the plan have been placed in charge of the camps and the men are learning to hold their own in the woods at the same time the government is getting a return for the expenditure made.

DOLLAR A DAY

The men receive $1.75 per day, less 75 cents for board, netting them $1.25 to $2.00 a month with an additional $10 clothing allowance for the season.

In return the government gets their work in the construction of much-needed forest trails to help cut the loss by forest fires, maintenance work on trails and assistance at experimental stations, and help for forest rangers.

The plan is launched to take young men from the cities where they are unable to find work and transfer them to the training camp where they will do useful work under conditions which must benefit them physically and mentally, leaving them self-reliant and with a sane outlook towards the future.

They have the opportunity to gain experience in various kinds of construction work, learn how to clear land, build trails and handle an axe.

It is too early to place a final value on the programme of work, but reports received by the Lands Department to date are gratifying. Forest officers are unanimous in their praise of the work being done and the interest taken in it by the young men. Many of the men express appreciation of the efforts being made to assist them. Sincere appreciation is expressed by the forest branch of the co-operation logging and milling concerns are extending the forest service in the way of employing men who have had some training at the stations.

Swimming and life-saving lessons at Cowichan Camp.

"This feature of the programme," officials of the branch says, "is just being explored, but it appears now that our difficulty will not be in finding positions for the men, but in developing enough men suitable for the positions."

A visit to the Cowichan Camp, where C. D. Schultz is superintendent, leads to the belief that the claims made by government officials of the success of the plan are not extravagant.

Fifty men, mostly young men from Victoria and Nanaimo, are there at present.

Only two or three have dropped out since the camp was opened.

Sixteen have got jobs in logging camps in the district and jobs for others were available as soon as they had secured more experience. They are housed in bell tents for sleeping accommodation and have built their own kitchen, community hall and other necessary buildings.

Some of them had no experience outside of cities before. They were cut and logged cities before. They have conditioned a spring and built a dam of 1,400 gallons capacity. They have cut and burned slash on fire chains of trail.

Three thousand cedar shakes have been cut and 130 snags along the road right-of-way have been felled. They have also raised a bridge and cut and logged cities before.

The superintendent appeared to be a man of the woods, rather than a man of words. You see the camp and judge for yourself if it is worth while. He is keenly interested in selecting the right men for jobs to uphold the soundness of the idea when representatives of loggers discuss the type of men they want for work.

New Mill Soon To Be Opened

Mayo Plant Will Be Ready to Start Cutting Early in October

Duncan, Sept. 13.—The new sawmill of the Mayo Brothers Timber Company Limited, replacing the plant destroyed by fire, is expected to be ready for operation by the beginning of October.

The main sawmill building is completed and work on the loading platform is proceeding. Much of the machinery is in place, and the boiler-house, completely renewed and with the boilers all overhauled since the fire, is practically ready for work.

The machinery being installed is from the former Sidney mill and the old Morden mill. A well-equipped machine-shop is an important factor in making the installation. Altogether some sixty men are rushing the construction and other work to completion.

Final decision on reaw equipment has yet to be made. Upon this the volume of the mill's output will depend.

This kind until the people themselves took control.

To demonstrate what he called the talisman of the economic system of capitalism he cited trade figures of the world showing how the intercourse between nations had been strangled by the profit motive.

Under capitalism ruthless competition in industry was often necessary for the survival of business, he said.

Even when economically independent a capitalist did not find security.

The C.C.F., he said, would operate the basic industries in the interests of the people and not purely for profit.

Teachers in Saskatchewan were working for as low as $5 a week and landlords in Montreal were refusing houses to the unemployed. These were just instances of the stupidity of capitalism.

He digressed for a moment and predicted chaos in the economic system of the United States.

Rev. Robert Connell, M.P.P., also spoke. He stated the C.C.F. would not create a servile state and stood for the application of Christian principles to life.

Alfred Carmichael introduced the speakers.

MRS. CARLEY TAKES FIRST

Wins Spectacular Jumping Event on Second Night's Programme at Horse Show

With horses leaping eight obstacles, including a wall, a picket fence, a wide "pig pen" and a close double "hedge," the second day of the Horse Show at the Willows came to a spectacular close yesterday evening.

Mrs. D. B. Carley took first and second prize in the difficult event which drew praise from Dr. M. Sparrow, V.S., judge, who said he had not seen better jumping in any show.

She showed superb horsemanship as she piloted Chenango and Beggar Boy over the hazards. Miss J. Rithet, on Nevada, was a close third.

The programme opened with the four-horse team event. The jingling dray horses as they drew their wagons round the ring and almost kept time to the music of the orchestra drew applause from the audience. Crystal Dairies, Vancouver, won the event, with J. W. Munro, Carstairs, Alta. second; and R. Thorburn, Vancouver, third.

Toward the close of the evening, Hon. Dr. S. P. Toimie presented a cup to Alex. McKennie, aged eighty-one, for his lifetime of work in breeding thoroughbred horses. Mr. McKennie owns Tucson, the oldest thoroughbred stallion in British Columbia and he showed the horse to the crowd.

MISS TODD FIRST

In the lightweight hunter class, Miss Teresa Todd was first on Chenango; Miss N. McFarland was second, and Mrs. Carley third.

Miss Paty Jackson, on Kitty, won in the children's riding class, with Miss V. Yarrow on King second, and Miss E. MacDonald on Molly third.

Ian Ross won the hunter class when he took his horse over the jumps with ease and confidence. Monty Armstrong on Hurrah was second, and Miss J. Rithet on Nevada third.

Master Chum Carley won the children's pony class, while Miss Paty Jackson and Miss Rosemarie James were second and third, respectively.

A fine display of horsemanship was given in the hunting team class, in which Miss J. Rithet, Miss R. Bechtel and Miss D. Pooley, riding Nevada, Sir Wilfred and Silver, respectively, placed first. Mrs. Carley, Miss T. Todd and Miss N. MacFarlane, riding Beggar Boy, Chenango and Sonny Boy, were second. Third place went to Miss D. Pooley, Ian Ross and Reg. Shanks, riding Crowe, Omar and Evening Star.

George Allison looked after arrangements for the programme, and Mr. Carley was ringmaster.

C.C.F. SCORES TRADE POLICY

Candidate Declares B.C. Has Suffered From Eastern Dictation

Eastern manufacturers have dictated Canada's foreign trade policy for years and B.C.'s exports have suffered because of this, declared Professor King Gordon, C.C.F. candidate, at a meeting in St. Mary's Hall, Oak Bay, yesterday evening.

He argued that the province would continue to suffer discrimination of speakers.

St. Louis Cards Take First of Crucial Games From Giants

THE SPORTS MIRROR

WHAT A STREAKY year this has been for major league baseball. Even the Pittsburgh Pirates finally caught the habit. Their recent winning streak revived hopes (but not for long) in the Smokey City. But Pie Traynor's hitless game under a heavy handicap in the last column. No matter what they do from here in, they can't get back those games they lost in the merry month of May.

The St. Louis Cardinals were off the mark slowly. Then when nobody was looking they started a long winning streak that put them in respectable society. Just as Sam Breadon was about to call up the printers and put in an order for world series tickets the River Rowdies from the banks of the Mississippi started another streak in the reverse direction. With that out of their system, they turned right around and galloped ahead on another winning streak. A fast team, the Cardinals, going in either direction. It was a sustained winning streak that made the New York Yankees a favored team for second place in the American League this year. The winning streak was owned and operated by Detroit Tigers.

On the season's play so far the Cardinals have beaten the Chicago Cubs and the Cubs have an edge over the Giants. That's enough to set the ordinary baseball follower dizzy. The scores don't add up to any rational result.

Writing on the question of whether or not the United States should withdraw from the Olympic Games next year at Berlin on the ground that the Nazis are unfit to entertain the event or to associate with sportsmen, owing to their actions in regard to the Jewish athletes, Westbrook Pegler, world-famous sports writer, has the following interesting comment to offer:

"I take it that the object of this move would be to hold the Nazis up to scorn before the world and suggest that this could be more effectively if the athletes of this country were to do the sporting thing and give the Nazis every opportunity to make themselves notorious as muckers in actual competition. This they would be likely to do, as they have shown a rare knack for brutal stupidity and bad manners."

"If this country withdraws, the Nazis will be in a position to plead not guilty, and even to enter a counter-charge that the Americans, with all their facilities and their vaunted love of games, were afraid to meet the Nazi youth. They cannot convict themselves unless they are given all the hundreds of opportunities which occur to a country which is host to the Olympic Games to cheat, foul and conspire."

"It would further enhance the pleasure of the enterprise from the American point of view to give their athletes a resounding licking at every point of competition in which it is possible to meet them in the long programme, from chess to weight-lifting."

"I am aware that this is not a very noble sentiment, but, unfortunately, the Nazis themselves have made it impossible to conduct these games in the chivalrous spirit which prevailed at Los Angeles three years ago. The spirit of revenge is contrary to the purposes for which the Olympic Games were revived, but the Olympics will cause rancor this time whether they are played or called off. This being unavoidably so, we have nothing to lose and something to gain in the way of prestige by holding up our end as long as it is possible to play at all."

"Of course, in the Olympic Games the scheme of the competition is such that the Americans might have few opportunities to meet Nazis, but the luck of the draw would be certain to create a few such matches. The spectacle of a Milton Goldfarb, with the Jewish star on his boxing trunks, punching the ears off one of the flowers of Nazi youth before a Nazi audience in Berlin would be a satisfaction worth considering when the proposal to abandon the games is taken up."

Dizzy Dean Gives Masterly Show To Win Twenty-sixth

Outpitches Carl Hubbell As Team Wins 5 to 2; Chicago Cubs Keep Pace

DETROIT TIGERS DEFEAT YANKEES

The swaggering St. Louis Cardinals, saying it with base hits and the blinding speed of Dizzy Dean, have made their 1935 announcement that they're on the road to the National League baseball pennant and don't intend to be elbowed off—especially by the New York Giants.

They said that clearly, yesterday when they trounced the Giants, 5 to 2, in the opening clash of their highly important series.

With the elder of the famous Deans putting on one of his extra-special pitching performances for his twenty-sixth victory of the season, the Cards looked just as good—against their challengers yesterday as they did against the lowly Boston Braves and Phillies. Dizzy took care of the job of checking the New York hitters, while his mate, Carl Hubbell, pitched for an early lead and romped through.

The result put the Giants four and a half games behind, but it did not shake off the Chicago threat to the Cardinals' supremacy. The Cubs routed the Brooklyn Dodgers, 13 to 3, with a heavy-hitting attack behind Lon Warneke, and remained only one game behind St. Louis.

While this was going on, Detroit's Tigers took another step toward clinching the other world-series berth by coming from behind to trim the second place New York Yankees, 6 to 5. Two runs behind going into the eighth, they forged ahead with the aid of Goose Goslin's homer, then tied it up, and won with three in the ninth, when Jo-Jo White hit for the circuit.

The victory gave Detroit an eight and a half game lead over the Yanks, who were left as the only team with a possible chance to beat out the Tigers when Cleveland took a three-hit 3 to 0 to whitewash from the Washington Senators and Earl Whitehill.

The cellar-dwelling Philadelphia Athletics provided another of the day's high spots when Jimmy Fox smacked two homers for a total of thirty-three that left him only one behind the leader, Hank Greenberg, Detroit, and led the way to a double triumph over the Chicago White Sox. The scores were 11 to 2 and 4 to 3.

The losing streak of Boston Braves went to thirteen straight when they went down 4 to 3 before the six-hit fling of Gene Schott of Cincinnati.

Pittsburgh's Pirates, preparing for next year, tossed in a couple of reverses against Philadelphia and won 11 to 0, with big Jim Weaver's hurling. They had to send Gus Suhr to right field to play his fifth consecutive game and continue his try for the National League record. The surprising St. Louis Browns led by two former Boston players, Julius Solters and Lynn Lary, defeated the Boston Red Sox, 6 to 2.

Doncaster Cup To Black Devil

Doncaster, England, Sept. 12.—Black Devil, four-year-old owned by William Woodward, United States, to-day won the Doncaster Cup handicap over the two and one-quarter mile route. Black Devil finished two lengths ahead of Sir Abe Bailey's Cecil with Lord Astor's Caracol third another four lengths back. Only five ran.

The winner started at odds of 4 to 5, carrying 128 pounds. Cecil at 100 to 7 and Caracol at 25 to 1 carried the same weight.

HUNTERS TO SEEK TROPHY

Sylvester U Drive Cup Goes to Sportsman Bagging Biggest Buck Deer

Deer hunters smiled with anticipation of a great day's outing when the season opens at dawn to-morrow morning as a result of the heavy rain of the last twenty-four hours. With the underbrush wet the sportsmen will be able to move through the woods without making nearly as much noise as would be the case if the underfooting was dry as tinder.

The added incentive to the boys to go out after the big fellows is the fact that the Sylvester U Drive Ltd., Douglas Street, is again offering its handsome perpetual trophy to the person who brings in the largest buck during the season, September 14 to December 15.

Bill Sylvester, manager of the company, announced to-day that he had completed all arrangements for the weighing-in of the deer and is ready to provide twenty-four-hour service for the benefit of the competitors.

The competition is open to any hunter on Vancouver Island and the only regulation is that the deer must be weighed in at the Sylvester U Drive office. Proper weighing-in scales are being installed and will be ready to be put into service at daylight Saturday morning. Just in case some lucky hunter bags a big one bright and early on the opening day.

In addition to the main trophy, which the winner holds for one year, Mr. Sylvester will give a miniature which will become the permanent possession of the sportsman bagging the largest buck.

Last year's winner, Philip Nelson, Cambridge Street, is hoping to be able to lift the cup for the second straight year, although he is certain to meet up with some keen competition.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

—By John Hix

There was an old legend in sixteenth-century Constantinople that one day the Turks would successfully storm the city—but that as they poured through the gates an angel from Heaven would appear with a sword in his hand to defeat the enemy.

So, in 1542, when the forces of Mohammed II did enter the city—safety lay, they thought, in going to the Church of St. Sophia. There they went by the thousands, packing every corner of the church—still the Turks advanced.

The panic-stricken people in the church crowded closer together, they crawled over one another trampling the weak underfoot. When the Turks stormed the doors they found the Christians piled seven feet deep in the church. Over this mass of humanity they rode their horses, killing as they went. To-day at St. Sophia there are gashes in the columns, twelve feet above the floor level, left there by mounted Turks who rode their horses over the Christians' bodies. None was spared save those chosen to be slaves.

Jacob Hyer won the big fight of his career in 1918 when he defeated Tom Beasley. Thereafter he announced himself American champion and no one attempted to take the title from him. After him his son, Tom, then twenty-two, declared himself champion and offered to defend the title. First John McCluskey challenged in 1941 and was beaten, then eight years later Yankee Sullivan from England, challenged the champ. Hyer knocked him out in sixteen rounds and after that could find no one to fight. He, too, retired undefeated.

Mount Stephen Card To-night

Patrick to Meet Carey in Main Event on Outdoor Fight Programme

Murray "Muzz" Patrick, Canadian amateur heavyweight champion, will oppose Rex Carey, 155-pound flash, in an exhibition fistfight match this evening, to feature the Mount Stephen Athletic Club's boxing and wrestling programme to be staged in its popular open-air stadium on Mount Stephen Avenue. The complete card will consist of four wrestling and four boxing bouts. The opener will be at 8 o'clock, providing the weather is clear.

Wally Edwards, Cedar Hill "Wildcat," and Reggie Hopkins, 137-pound rough-and-ready matman, will meet in a one-fall grudge affair. Last week's match between these two resulted in a win for Edwards; on a foul, when Hopkins tried to strangle him with a towel in the final session of the five-round mix. Both will be out for victory this evening.

The semi-wind-up will bring together Pete Tyson and Rudy Loeffler in the 135-pound class. They will go four four-minute rounds. Both are well versed in the art of the bone-bending game and should produce plenty of action.

Jack Lacey and Alec Gardiner will meet at 135 pounds and will battle four four-minute rounds. They will go other grappling match will bring together Young Gus Sonnenberg and Young Ernie Arthur. They will go three four-minute rounds.

Three boxing matches will round out the card, as follows: George Gauthier vs. Billy Thorburn, at seventy-five pounds. Jerry Wilson vs. Jerry Simmons, at eighty pounds. Red Knowles vs. Young Duval, at eighty pounds.

Louis Callan, matchmaker, will act as the third man in the ring.

Max Baer Issues Warning To Louis

Former Heavyweight Boxing Champion Says Negro Battler Will Have to Take Plenty in Their Bout on Sept. 24; Baer's Hands in Great Shape

Speculator, N.Y., Sept. 12.—Max Baer served official notice on Joe Louis yesterday that unless the brown bomber can take it—and in great quantities—he won't answer the bell for the second round against the reformed Californian hot spotter at the Yankee Stadium September 24.

"I'm telling you and I'm telling him just what I am going to do," declared Max after yesterday's workout. "I'm going to wrap it all up in one package and let him have it in the first round. That will either spill him or leave him so groggy I'll polish him off in the second."

"This fight goes to the man who can take the most punishment. I've proved I can absorb my share. Louis hasn't. And if he can take what I'm going to throw at him and stay on his feet, he'll have to have a cast iron chin."

GOES SIX ROUNDS A lean, tan and well trained Baer stepped through six rounds yesterday afternoon against Willie McGee, a burly negro and Tony Cancelli. Max took all they had, grinned and came back for more. "I want to win that title back even worse than I wanted it the first time. A lot of people have been stepping on me since I lost to Braddock and I want a chance to do a little laughing of my own."

Baer's hands are strong, hardened by much wood chopping for back in the Adirondack forests. The way he tears into the punching bag for minutes at a time and pummels his sparring partners proves that. His wind and speed are better than ever.

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE Buffalo, N.Y., Sept. 13.—Buffalo Bisons took the third game of their International League play-off series from the champion Montreal Royals, 4 to 1, yesterday evening, as Ken Ash pitched a brilliant seven-hit game. The triumph gave Buffalo a 2 to 1 edge in the series of the best four out of seven games.

Short score: R. H. E. Montreal 1 7 1 Buffalo 4 8 0 Batteries: Kinsey, Smythe and Taylor; Ash and Crouse.

British Polo Team Defeated

New York, Sept. 13.—With Stephen (Laddie) Sanford setting the pace, the Hurricanes yesterday eliminated the highly regarded English team, representing the Hurlingham Club, from the national open polo championship, winning their first round match on international field 9 to 8, after Seymour Knox's Aurora four had disposed of C. V. Whitney's Westbury outfit 11 to 9 on nearby Bostwick Field.

English League Followers Look For Another Avalanche in Matches To-morrow; Leading Huddersfield Town Will Oppose Derby County

London, Sept. 13.—English footballers found their shooting boots in the lengthy series of midweek games and fans throughout the country will attend to-morrow's games hoping for another avalanche of goals.

Huddersfield Town, which retained its position at the top of the table by defeating Wolverhampton Wanderers, plays host to Derby County. It will be a tough struggle but the advantage lies with the home team, although the county has two successive victories to its credit.

GREAT RECOVERY

Middlesbrough, Manchester City, Stoke and Sunderland are tied for second place in the table with six points each. Middlesbrough's wonderful recovery is causing no end of chatter. The side has amassed sixteen goals, twelve of them in two away matches. On Monday, the players who last season escaped relegation to the second division by a hair's breadth, beat Aston Villa 7 to 2. To-morrow they play the doughty Brentford team at Middlesbrough.

Additional points for Manchester City are likely as Birmingham visits Maine Road, but the encounter of Stoke City and Sunderland, on the Staffordshire club's ground, may go either way. Arsenal's team to play Sheffield Wednesday, the cup holders, at Highbury, has not been chosen. Several players suffered minor injuries in the game in which Grimpey was routed 6 to 1 Wednesday.

Tottenham's troubles seem to be unending. The Hotspurs, demoted from the premier division, made eight changes in the team which lost to Hull City last Monday and now both goalkeepers and four other players are reported on the injured list. The team to visit Sheffield United, to-morrow, has not yet been chosen.

SECOND DIVISION

The leaders in the second division, Blackpool and Southampton, may be expected to pull farther into the lead. Both play at home, Blackpool against West Ham United and the Saints against Bradford.

A triple tie exists for leadership of the southern section of the third division, between Bournemouth, Reading and Crystal Palace. Bournemouth plays at Crystal Palace to-morrow, while Reading has Oillingham as visitor. It is quite likely Reading will break into a clear lead.

Stockport County, northern section leader, plays at New Brighton. In this section Chester, Lincoln City, Wrexham and Tranmere Rovers are tied for second place, one point behind Stockport.

Glasgow, Sept. 13.—Aldershotians hope to be the first team to lower Aberdeen's colors in Scottish League football. The Dons and the Rangers are the only unbeaten sides in the first division, though each has drawn one game. While Aberdeen is up against a tough proposition at Airdrie to-morrow, the champions are expected to keep their slate clean at Edinburgh, where they oppose Hibernians.

Following a mid-week victory over Ayr United, Arbroath, babe of the major league, is likely to put up a hard battle against Hamilton Academicals, who have indulged in some heavy scoring lately. Celtic, as always against Albion Rovers, should have little difficulty in consolidating its position on the third rung of the league ladder, while Hearts of Midlothian may gain some ground at Ayr.

The Athletic veteran last Saturday delighted the fans at Dunfermline, and to-morrow Queen's Park will be visitors. The amateurs, near the bottom of the table, are likely to come away empty-handed. In other games, Dundee meets Clyde; Motherwell at home to St. Johnstone; Partick Thistle to Kilmarnock, and Third Lanark to Queen of the South.

Interest increases in second division doings with defeat of Falkirk, St. Mirren and Morton last Saturday. St. Bernard's crept up into a tie for first place as a result of their back-sliding.

On paper, Morton has the hardest job to-morrow, being scheduled to play Forfar Athletic. St. Mirren plays East Stirling, while Falkirk opposes Leith Athletic and St. Bernard's meets Cowdenbeath. The leaders are all playing at home.

TRIPLE WIN FOR SPORRI

Veteran Rider Increases His Total Wins at Willows to Eight

With a sparkling performance in the saddle which gave him three winners and second, Jockey Ernie Sporri jumped into a clear lead yesterday among the riders booting the thoroughbreds home at the Willows oval.

When he drove Miss Goldstream, the locally owned filly, on top from wire to wire in the fourth event, Sporri scored his eighth victory in five days of riding. Earlier in the programme had won on Jocella and Red Lady, and he followed this up with a whirlwind finish on Daredevil to take second place in the fifth race.

This performance brought Sporri's total winners for the 1935 British Columbia racing season to twenty-four and put him only one behind D. Dubois, who has twenty-five to his credit, being five at the Willows. Dobby Colpitts got one winner home yesterday and brought his season total to twenty, equal with Grover Williams. Christensen with eighteen, and Whitacre with sixteen are the other leading riders now appearing at the track.

Despite the drizzling weather the Thursday card drew a good-sized crowd and the handle through the totalizator was reported to be nearly 20 per cent better than last year, in line with the general increase shown throughout fair week.

Mrs. A. Brooks' Dunrode scored his second victory of the week when he copped the third and completed a $33 daily double from Red Lady in the second.

The track was quite heavy, and muddier than things to their liking. Silver Bond, a notorious mud runner, got a well-timed ride from Jockey S. Harris to win the fifth, and he paid off at better than four to one. The one-two bet in this event made up by the winner and Daredevil was worth $44.20.

Arthur Ceperley's Clear gave a flash of his last season's form when he galloped away with the sixth, having a clear margin over Night Flash. He returned $19.40 straight, the best price of the day.

In the final event Wee Chap proved the stoutest in a keenly contested race over one mile and seventy yards. After first racing down the pace-making Lady Diskin and Pirruan he took the lead rounding for home to knock up with Warren 8, in a driving finish. The one-two paid $67.70.

M.C.C. TEA WINS

London, Sept. 13.—Marylebone Cricket Club's West Indies team today defeated H. D. C. Leveson-Gower's eleven at Scarborough by only two runs. The M.C.C. compiled 268 and 124, its opponents replying with 125 and 265.

LOSE SHARK AND COUGAR

Capt. S. Forrester and Family Get in "Big Game" Hunting at Qualicum

Fighting a giant shark on a rod and line and then having the tackle break; tracking a cougar for a number of hours and then losing it in the woods—such was the variety of sport and had Capt. S. Forrester, Burlingame, California, according to a report received from Qualicum Beach where the captain and his family have been staying all summer.

Going out in the morning on what he supposed would be just another fishing trip, Capt. Forrester suddenly made a "strike," a "strike" that was greater than any ever made by a Tye salmon. When his capture broke water, the captain was amazed to find a large shark on the end of his line. After playing the giant man-eater for a considerable time the tackle, not built for such great strain, gave way and the shark was lost.

On returning to the Qualicum Beach Hotel, where he and his family have been staying for the summer, Mrs. Forrester reported that she had been a cougar walk across the lawn. Jim Craig, noted up-island cougar hunter, was pressed into service and brought his dogs along to track down the game. After following the track for several hours the cougar was finally lost in the vicinity of the home of General A. D. McRae.

Lieutenant-Commander Crawford May, also visiting at Qualicum Beach, had better luck, having landed a shark weighing in the neighborhood of 600 pounds. Commander May fought his capture for a number of hours before finally bringing him to the side of the boat where he could be killed.

Mrs. Sweeney Last Coast Player In Fight For Title

Vancouver Star Paired Against Brilliant Mrs. Dagenais, Montreal, To-day

Ada Mackenzie Advances Easily

Vancouver, Sept. 13.—Four semi-finalists teed off to-day over the drenched Jericho golf links in the next to the last step toward the Canadian women's open golf championship and when the last ball has been sunk the odds are overwhelmingly in favor of an all-eastern Canada final.

First to start out, Miss Ada Mackenzie and Mrs. E. Phillips, drove off at 2 o'clock. Both are from Toronto, thus assuring Ontario of a finalist for the title won last year by Mrs. Alex Sterling Fraser, Ottawa.

The Ontario pair were followed fifteen minutes later by Mrs. Joseph Dagenais, Montreal, and Mrs. S. C. Sweeney, Vancouver, the west's last hope to annex the crown. The Vancouver veteran, however, is conceded little chance of getting past the petite Montrealer who yesterday astounded the gallery by touring sixteen holes of the rain-soaked course in par figures to eliminate Mrs. Roy Horne, brilliant Calgary shotmaker, 3 and 2.

Mrs. Sweeney came from behind to displace Mrs. F. J. Mulquhann, Toronto, 1 up, after the Toronto player blew a three-hole first nine lead and was continually in trouble on the second nine.

Miss Mackenzie so far has not been extended in match play. She easily stroked her way to a 4 and 3 win over Mrs. C. J. Woerner, Los Angeles, in the quarter round.

Mrs. Phillips has played steady golf throughout the tournament, yesterday she downed Mrs. A. MacAllister, Vancouver, on the twentieth green.

THE BIG SIX

The members of the Big Six were able to make only four hits among them yesterday and not one could add as much as a point to his average. Hank Greenberg and Arky Vaughan made the best showings as they didn't lose. Greenberg hit twice in four attempts and gained sole possession of second place in the American League. Vaughan had one hit in three times up. The other blow went to Gabby Hartnett, who made four trips to the plate and lost only one point. The other three dropped three points each.

NORM PERRY IS THROUGH

Great Halfback of Sarnia Announces Retirement Following Ankle Injury

Calgary, Sept. 13.—Norm Perry, high-gear running halfback for Sarnia Imperials, Canadian rugby champions, who broke his ankle in Wednesday night's exhibition game with Calgary Bronks announced yesterday his playing days were over.

Propped up in a Holy Cross Hospital bed and surrounded by fruit, magazines and Calgary players, the long-legged galloping ghost of Canadian rugby stated: "It is safe to say I shall never play again. I played this year only because the team made the western Canada exhibition tour."

The left ankle, fractured when Perry crossed his legs as he turned to receive a forward pass from Hummer Stirling, was injured more seriously than at first thought. "The ankle came right out of the socket, and all the ligaments were torn, and it will take longer for the ligaments to heal than the fracture," Perry said.

Dr. H. M. Jennings, the attending physician, will not order the ankle put in a cast until the swelling subsides—two or three days at least.

The doctor told Perry he would be unable to put on a football boot for six months. He said last night the ankle would still be weak next winter, and Perry would be unable to walk for six weeks.

ORILLIA IS TURNED BACK

Dominion Lacrosse Champions Drop Play-off Game to Burlington 16 to 9

Burlington, Ont., Sept. 13.—In a wild game that sent man after man in the penalty box in the closing quarter, Burlington Beavers defeated Orillia Terriers, Dominion champions, 16 to 9 in the second game of the senior Ontario Amateur Lacrosse Association playoffs here yesterday evening.

Orillia won the first game of the series 14 to 8 in Orillia Tuesday. The third game, to decide the team that will meet Cornwall Indians, Ottawa district champions, for the right to meet the Quebec leaders, will be played in the Maple Leaf Gardens, Toronto, Saturday.

It was the Beavers' game yesterday evening. They showed complete reversal of form from their Tuesday appearance. The Terriers were outplayed all the way through. Burlington ended the first quarter 6 to 2 and made it 8 to 6 at the half. The end of the third quarter found them on top 11 to 6.

Jones Denies He Will Enter Event

Cleveland, Sept. 13.—Bobby Jones denied yesterday he contemplates playing in the Cascades open golf tournament at Hot Springs, Va., later this month. Here to witness the United States amateur tournament, Jones said he had no competitive plans other than his intention to play again next spring in the Augusta national invitation tournament.

Hot Springs, Va., Sept. 13.—Bobby Jones will return to tournament competition in the $2,500 Cascades open golf championship here September 12, the tournament committee announced yesterday.

At the same time the committee announced the arrival of Walter Hagen, Johnny Ravolta, Henry Picard, Leo Diegel, Bobby Cruikshank, Harry Cooper, Denny Shute, Sam Parks, Tommy Armour, Al Espinosa and Bill Melhorn entered earlier.

HOLIDAY FOR SAANICH FAIR

Municipality to Hold 67th
Annual Exhibition; Visitors'
Day September 18

The seventy-sixth annual fall fair of the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society will be officially opened by Norman W. Whittaker, M.P.P. for Saanich, on visitors' day, Wednesday, September 18, at 1:30 o'clock.

The Saanich council announces that this date will be a municipal holiday. The schools will be closed for the day and all stores in the municipality are requested to observe a half-day holiday, so as to give full support to the community affair.

Indications show that all classes of exhibits will be more worthy of the district than they have been in previous years.

A fine programme of Highland events has been arranged and the committee reports that entries for the old-time Canadian quadrilles are being received from many up-land competitors. The winner will be presented with the Saanich Pioneer Society Challenge Cup.

The dancing and piping events are expected to draw a large number of outside competitors. These events are for amateur dancers sixteen years and under, covering fifteen classes. Sword dancers will be competing for the 'Adeline Grant Silver Challenge Cup, and medal for the second year.

The committee in charge is as follows: R. E. Munro, convener; Pipe-Major D. Cameron, J. A. Dewar, R. Bryden, Ian Douglas, A. G. Smith and Colin A. Chisholm.

The annual agricultural dance will be held on Friday evening, September 27, following the fair, in the Agricultural Hall. Len Acres' four-piece orchestra will supply the music.

VISITOR PRAISES

VICTORIA FAIR

"You have a fine exhibition here. It is far beyond my expectations, particularly in the livestock section," said T. C. Acheson, general agricultural agent for the Canadian Pacific Railway at Winnipeg, as he was leaving the city to-day on his return east.

Mr. Acheson visited the fair as a guest of the exhibition directors. He conferred while here with Col. J. S. Dennis, retired chief of the C.P.R. colonization department.

Convention Here

Next Wednesday

The last convention of the 1935 season, that of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, will open at the Empress Hotel on Wednesday next. The convention will last two days and will be attended by a large number of delegates.

The Victoria Short Wave Club will hold a meeting at 2024 Carnarvon Street, to-morrow evening.

CHANGED

SEAFARING has advanced greatly since the days of Marco Polo, but the rivers of China still carry vessels that are not far different from the type that this great explorer used in his Oriental travels more than 600 years ago.

These were the ornate, high-decked, rattle-sailed "junks," examples of which still can be seen in China waters. The same form of hull, the same sails of rattan or matting, that set off the ships of the Chinese even farther back than the time of Marco Polo, persist to-day.

The early junks were large vessels, carrying crews of from 200 to 300 men. Their hulls were divided into apartments for important passengers, their women and servants. They even carried boxes of earth in which plants and flowers were cultivated. They were clumsy and slow, but very well built.

These peculiar ships have their place in the stamps of China, several which were first issued in the early years of the republic.

Rev. E. R. McLean, provincial secretary of the Religious Education Council, will be in the city this week. All leaders of boys' groups of any kind are invited to meet him at the Y.M.C.A. on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, where information on boys' work may be obtained. Plans will be discussed for a city-wide boys' conference to be held in October.

In the professional piping events held at the Willows on Wednesday, James MacMillan captured second place in reels and strathspeys and Ian Duncan secured second place in the marches and third in the reels and strathspeys. The committee in publishing the results yesterday reversed the positions.

One of the few pleasing notices that go out from the city collector's office will be mailed shortly. The notices inform 573 taxpayers they have given the city too much through the medium of prepaid taxes and are entitled to refunds which will be enclosed in the notices, along with receipts. They will be mailed after October 1, and will return $5,726.17 to the 573 people involved.

The city health department entered another phase of unusual activity this week as members of the staff assisted the Victorian Order of Nurses in the attractive health display in the Industrial Building at the Willows. This afternoon the quarantine nurse and Dr. Richard Felton's secretary acted as attendants, explaining the various features of the booth and assisting in the weighing operations there.

Work will start this autumn on a transformation project which will change the deer pen at Beacon Hill Park into a rose garden. It was announced yesterday by Alderman John A. Worthington, chairman of the city parks board. Over 600 British Columbia-grown roses of various types will be donated by the Knights of the Round Table for the garden, work on which will start when labor is available. A small stream with two islands in a lake and a bog garden are also contemplated as later developments in that section of the park.

The National Motor Shows Pictures will be shown at the Willows on Wednesday and Thursday nights. The Thursday night audience was high in its praise of a well assembled programme of romance, news items, animated and scenic photography.

The feature, "Honeycomb in a V," is alone well worth seeing. In this picture a delightful young couple get married and travel from the eastern United States to California on their honeymoon. En route they stop at New York, Niagara Falls, Detroit, Zion National Park, Pike's Peak, Death Valley and the San Diego Pacific International Exposition which is still in progress.

Altogether, it is an excellent evening's entertainment.

IS LAID AT REST

Dean Quinton conducted the funeral service yesterday for Mrs. Elizabeth G. Widdicombe, at which only immediate friends were present. The casket and hearse were banked with beautiful floral tributes. The following were the pallbearers: A. R. Sherwood, H. J. Ketchum, T. J. Walsh, Charles Haycraft, P. R. Cruikshank and Newell Birch. The remains were laid at rest in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

WOULD REMOVE MEAT TARIFF

Dr. S. F. Tolmie Points to Difficulty of Entering U.S. Market

Canada, as one of the United States leading markets, was within its rights in hoping for a removal of the high tariff which virtually shut Canada meat from the U. S. consumers, Dr. S. F. Tolmie told cattle men and women gathered at the annual stockmen's dinner in the Exhibition Restaurant at the Willows to-day.

Turning to the swine men, he declared they would have to raise the standard of their animals to command the same price for their produce as Danish hogs secured in the British market.

Dr. Tolmie was the feature speaker at the luncheon, over which Alderman T. W. C. Hawkins presided.

LAUDS EXHIBITORS

Alderman Hawkins welcomed the visiting stockmen to the fair before referring to the record crowd which had seen the stock parade on Wednesday.

He paid tribute to the exhibitors for the excellent stock they had shown in the parade, declaring it, in point of quality the best in history of the fair here.

He was followed by Vantini the magician, who entertained the crowd with his feats of legerdemain.

JUNIOR WORK

A. L. MacLauren, Ottawa, secretary of the Canadian committee of boys and girls livestock clubs, told the gathering of junior work as a whole in the Dominion.

Dr. MacLauren expressed his pleasure at meeting local members, and stated 28,000 boys and girls belonged to the club at present.

Dr. Tolmie congratulated exhibitors on their showings, and echoed Alderman Hawkins' praise of the standard of stock displayed.

BETTER FACILITIES NEEDED

The increase in size of the stock section indicated more and more clearly the need for better accommodation. A ring closer to the barns was also needed, he said.

While the assembly was doing much to improve stock, the future of the agricultural industry depended largely on the ability of the country to find markets for produce which could not be used domestically, Dr. Tolmie said.

TARIFFS

He referred to the 1930 increase in the tariff against cattle by the United States.

As a leading market for United States goods, Canada could afford to ask for the removal of this duty, he claimed.

Dr. Tolmie spoke of the increase in hog prices resulting from the British preference, which gave Canada an advantage over Denmark in Great Britain.

Danish hogs, however, drew higher prices.

Dr. Tolmie thought Canada should improve its grade of swine to beat that of Denmark. When it did, Dr. Tolmie said, the Canadian hogs would claim the highest price possible. He closed with an expression of good wishes for future fairs.

SEND MESSAGES

FROM WILLOWS

Hall of Science at Exhibition Is Proving Popular; Many Demonstrations

Hundreds of people every day at the Willows Exhibition are entering the "Hall of Science" and marveling at some of the new scientific equipment which makes communication easier and knowledge of life through minute organisms observed through microscopes much more interesting.

Through the short wave club transmitter which sends messages to all parts of the world by short wave, hundreds of people are taking advantage of the facilities offered and sending felicitations to their friends. Messages have been sent to South Africa, England, South America, Mexico and New York. The greater portion of them are addressed for Vancouver, Seattle, and New Westminster. The messages are handled free through the facilities of the International Short Wave League and the amateur operators.

One of the machines that attracts a great deal of attention is the television scanner made by the Kendall Radio Laboratories. This instrument shows how a picture can be broken up into dots and thus transmitted to make up the televised picture.

The teletype machines used in the press offices and the large stock companies are also fascinating machines.

FLORAL SECTION.

JUDGED AT FAIR

Victoria Horticultural Society took first grown flowers, opened to outdoor grown flowers, open to gardening societies, women's institutes and kindred bodies, when judging in the floral section of the Victoria Fair was completed.

Daughters of England finished second and the Victoria Women's Institute third.

Rev. E. J. Springett, Dominion commissioner of the British-Israel World Federation (Canada), will be the speaker to-night at 8 o'clock, at a mass meeting, in the City Temple, to-morrow afternoon at 1:15 o'clock he will address a luncheon gathering in the Douglas Hotel, and in the evening at 8 o'clock will speak in the A.O.F. Hall at Duncan.

Pickpockets Are Active at Fair

A general warning to visitors to the Victoria Exhibition at the Willows to beware of pickpockets was issued by Oak Bay and City Police. The Oak Bay department has had several complaints of persons having had money and property lifted from their pockets while attending public co-operation in preventing their operations.

Forest Revenue
Maintains Jump

Increase of 10 Per Cent Recorded in First Seven Months

With an increase of $111,000, or roughly 10 per cent, recorded in the first seven months of the year, revenue to the government from British Columbia's forest industries is expected to reach the highest figure in the last four or five years.

Statistics obtained to-day show total payments on all accounts during the period were $1,225,178 compared with $1,114,755 for the corresponding portion of last year. While this overlaps partly the period covered by the 1933-34 budget, it indicates that the increase anticipated by the finance minister will be maintained. He placed the total revenue for the fiscal year at $2,625,000 as against $2,395,000.

The biggest increase is in timber royalties which have increased from $336,470 to $660,408. This is due to the heavier cutting in the logging camps during the first half of the year.

Revenue from timber sales is up slightly from $156,133 to $162,109 and from leases totals $43,926 against $31,645.

Renewals and rentals of timber licenses and berths has declined from $249,096 to $203,415.

Although lumber production has slumped somewhat in the last few weeks due to market conditions the output is expected to maintain a level which will hold the increase in governmental revenues during the balance of the fiscal year.

J. T. WILLIAMS

After a lengthy illness, James Tregor Williams, of the well-known contracting firm of Williams, Treise and Williams, passed away yesterday afternoon at the Jubilee Hospital.

Born in Cornwall, Eng., fifty-six years ago, Mr. Williams resided in Kansas City and other cities of the United States before coming to Victoria.

RAIN CUTS
ATTENDANCE

Gate Receipts For Day Fall Below 1934 Figures For First Time This Week

Continued rain spelled lower gate receipts for the British Columbia Agricultural Association at the Victoria fair to-day.

To-night the final of the horse show is expected to attract a good crowd, while the exhibits in the different buildings promised to draw medium attendances.

Yesterday attendances fell below those of last year for the first time. Paid admissions at the gate totalled 3,306, against 3,182 last year.

However, the increase set up earlier in the week more than offset that deficit, the aggregate up to last night being 24,623, against 20,601 for the same period last year.

In face of the possibility of declining gates to-day and to-morrow, if the rain keeps up, the association still had a fair chance of at least equalling the attendance totals of 1934.

The Real Estate Board of Victoria to-day tendered its congratulations to Mayor David Leeming on his election as president of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities at the Harrison convention.

Fred Collier, 1430 Bay Street, was victim of $15 by a pickpocket while he was attending the Victoria Exhibition at the Willows, according to a report he made to Oak Bay police.

WOULD BANISH
PARTY SYSTEM

Rev. E. J. Springett Advocates Administrative Council as Newfoundland

Abolition of the existing form of party government, which he says has "shot its bolt," and substitution of an administrative council to govern Canada, similar to the system now in force in Newfoundland, is advocated by Rev. E. J. Springett, Dominion Commissioner, British-Israel World Federation, of Toronto, who is in the city on a speaking tour.

"We have got to get back to basic principles," said Mr. Springett, in an interview at the Empress Hotel to-day.

"Some method of government should be adopted which would result in an administrative policy free from partisanship, not so much a government for the making of laws, but an administrative council to administer the law given to us which would result in the general welfare of the people," he said.

Mr. Springett spoke of the government of Newfoundland by an administrative council of seven, composed of three commissioners from Great Britain, three from Newfoundland and the governor of the crown colony.

Admiral Sir David Murray Anderson, who sank the Koenigsberg off East Africa in the war, is the governor of Newfoundland.

"Newfoundland, under this form of government, has reduced taxation by $646,000 in the first nine months of the administration's existence, has eliminated the patronage system, has revived industry in lumber and fishing, and is now turning her attention to agriculture," said Mr. Springett.

"I suggest," went on Mr. Springett, "that a scheme of that kind could well be considered for Canada for the time being."

"What about the provinces?" Mr. Springett was asked.

"I would suggest that the provincial governments be replaced by executive committees," he said.

He admitted that the absorption of the army of civil servants in other spheres would be a problem, but thought it could be solved.

Y.M.C.A. PLANS ARE DISCUSSED

The Boys' Work Committee of the Y.M.C.A. held its first meeting of the season last night with W. F. Straith in the chair. There was considerable discussion on the question of the new camp site.

Other important items discussed included the annual tag day which will be held some time in October, a junior membership drive and plans for the fall programme.

A report was given on the "Y" summer activities by Vivian Shoemaker, boys' work secretary.

J. B. Johnson, H. L. Campbell, H. L. Smith, E. Bishop, V. Shoemaker, F. Paulding, W. Martin, W. T. Straith and Archie Wills were present at the meeting.

LITTLE AND EMERY WIN

The Country Club, Cleveland, Sept. 13.—Surviving a smashing rally by Omaha's Johnny Goodman this afternoon, Lawney Little came back to crush his rival, 4 and 3, with a sub-par finish and gain the final round in defence of the United States amateur golf championship.

Sharpshooting Walter Emery, University of Oklahoma law student, won the right to play Little for the championship in the first tournament for which he has ever qualified. He conquered Joseph Lynch, Boston, 4 and 3, in a prolonged and somewhat erratic semi-final match.

PREVENTS RUFF IN DUMMY

Defence Cashes Trump Ace Only on Third Round, Thus Setting Declarer Two Tricks

By WM. E. MCKENNEY

Volumes have been written about the complicated plays of bridge. Writers have attempted to catalogue and classify them, so that students may recognize the plays when they arise, and execute them properly.

This type of study is interesting and instructive, but it is ineffective unless supplemented with a good share of common sense. No encyclopedia of plays can be complete, and a player must constantly be prepared to reason out new situations which have not been encountered previously.

Today's hand illustrates a very simple defensive play, which is not likely to be found in any classified list. West can defeat four hearts by proper defence, but a number of good players in that position failed to do so, because they did not study the possibilities thoroughly.

Today's Contract Problem

South is playing the contract at four spades. Declarer apparently has one loser in each suit. How can he make his contract?

West wins the first two spade tricks and South ruffs the third spade lead with a small heart. Declarer now leads the queen of hearts, which West refuses to win. A small heart is led towards dummy's king, and West again ducks.

From this point, declarer is helpless. If he leads another heart, West will win with the ace, force out declarer's last trump by a spade lead, and defeat the contract two tricks.

Declarer's best course is to play clubs and diamonds until West ruffs, allowing him to make both the ace and seven of hearts which will defeat the contract by one trick.

If West makes the mistake of winning the first or second round of hearts, declarer will make his contract easily, for he can ruff the spade lead in dummy.

IRISH COMEDY AT DOMINION

James Cagney, Pat O'Brien and Frank McHugh Star in "The Irish in Us"

Warner Bros. "The Irish in Us," with James Cagney, Pat O'Brien and Frank McHugh in the leading roles, opens at the Dominion Theatre today.

It is said to be one of the most entertaining pictures of the season, combining riotous comedy with tense unusual triangular romance, involving the love of two brothers for the same girl.

The cast as well as the director and most of the crew are Irish, including that inimitable trio, Cagney, O'Brien and McHugh as the three sons of Mary Gordon, herself born in Ireland.

Once a happy family, a rift sets in when Cagney and O'Brien fall in love with the same girl, Olivia de Havilland.

The film presents what is said to be the longest and most fiercely fought rout in history. Although it takes but fifteen minutes on the screen, it was five days in the making. Cagney and Harvey Parry, a former boxing champion are the contestants.

Also being shown is Jackie Cooper in "Dinkie," a Warner Brothers production.

Will Rogers to Be Starred Here

Laughter and tears, comedy and near-tragedy follow each other in quick succession and bring drama and suspense to Will Rogers's rousing picture of Mississippi steamboat life, "Steamboat Round the Bend," which comes to-morrow to the Capitol Theatre.

Two unusual entertainment elements combine to make the great and moving story of "Steamboat Round the Bend." One is the laugh-filled rivalry of Will Rogers and Irvin S. Cobb, America's two greatest humorists, as the crusty captains of competing boats; the other is the wistful and tender romance of Anne Shirley and John McGuire.

Rogers is hostile to the girl because of the trouble she has brought to McGuire. But, when the boy is condemned to hang, their love for him draws them together in the fight to save him.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

That there are plenty of laughs in "The Night Is Young," romantic new hit, at the Playhouse Theatre, is insured by the presence of not one but four comedy headliners.

With Ramon Novarro and the lovely Evelyn Laye, filling the romantic leads, the supporting cast is enhanced by such well-known laugh producers as the stony-faced Charles Butterworth, the rollicking Una Merkel, the inimitable Edward Everett Horton and amusing Herman Bing.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

"Broadway Bill," the Frank Capra comedy sensation co-starring Warner Baxter and Myrna Loy, which has been hailed in many quarters as the successor to the famed "It Happened One Night," is now being shown at the Columbia Theatre.

Aside from the unique qualities of delightful comedy, whimsy and charming romance with which both films are endowed, the similarity embraces the fact that both were produced by Columbia, directed by Capra, written by Robert Riskin and featured a starring team of exceptional players. "It Happened One Night." It will be recalled, brought Clark Gable and Claudette Colbert together on the screen for the first time.

Toronto, Sept. 13 (Canadian Press).—Fire losses in Canada during the week ended September 11, 1935, were estimated by The Monetary Times at $97,000, compared with $247,400 during the preceding week, and with $210,750 during the corresponding week of last year.

C.N.R. REVENUE

Montreal, Sept. 12 (Canadian Press).—Gross revenues of the Canadian National Railways system for the week ended September 7 were $9,127,318, compared with $9,194,469 for the corresponding period of 1934, a decrease of $67,151.

Toronto, Sept. 13.—Premier Aberhart of Alberta said here yesterday evening he had advised Social Credit leaders in Calgary he did not wish a candidate placed in Calgary West in opposition to Dominion Bennett in the forthcoming Dominion general election.

"I claim that since R. B. Bennett is Premier of Canada and has taken such a prominent part in the affairs of the world and has represented Calgary West all these years, our party should not oppose him," said Mr. Aberhart.

Asked whether he had issued orders to that effect, the Premier said: "I don't do it that way. I have advised some of our leaders and they have spread the news."

UNPLEASANT SHOCK

To the Editor:—The Liberal rally of Tuesday which a most distinguished guest, Premier Hepburn of Ontario, came to address, was shockingly disrupted by a godly number of an opposing political party who had come to listen or learn, but to annoy those who wished to do so.

Again, Wednesday night listening to the broadcast from the Vancouver Liberal rally called to give British Columbia absolute tyranny still reigns.

"Long is dead but Longmire still lives," Mrs. Hilda Phelps Hammond, chairman of the Women's Commission of Louisiana, said.

The committee has sought to have Senator Overton unseated from the United States Senate on the claim he had been elected through fraud inspired by the Long machine.

"In Louisiana absolute tyranny still reigns," Mrs. Hammond said in statement.

"The cruel, shackling laws of this land on the statute book are comprehensive, the spirit of the laws is tyrannical."

After forty years' residence in B.C. confess this regrettable episode came as an unpleasant shock. Home-training, free compulsorily echoing and religious teachings have availed these methods, methinks, judging by their product. Just think of such a man appealing for your support and mine.

Tarzan The Untamed

From a balcony of the maharajah's palace, next morning Tar watched the festival procession of the Buddha's Tooth. For hours it passed beneath her absorbed gaze—a gorgeous pageant of native music, color and color.

Upon an elephant of state, dressed in jewels, rich silks, and ornaments, rode the maharajah in all his glory. Following upon another tusker came prince Ahmed, and as Roger's friend neared, Tar tossed him a rose.

She was rewarded with a smile. Several times Tar fancied she detected, amid the throng, angry murmurs directed at herself and her companion. . . . Lastly came a huge, wooden cart upon which were three jewel-decked Hindu idols.

The crowd's frenzy now reached its climax, as slowly the car was dragged nearer. Suddenly from among the idol's hygienic escort came a cry: "The heathen! Kill these English!" A moment after, a dagger whizzed swiftly through the air.

What to Look for When You Are Seeking a Life Partner

Declares That Congeniality Is Important in Home Life

SO MANY divorces are granted because of incompatibility of temper that it raises the question as to whether it would not take a lot of the hazards out of matrimony if men and women knew more of each other's tastes and habits and general characteristics before marriage.

This sounds like a good tip. Since congeniality is the one most important thing in securing happiness in marriage, it would seem that the only safe bet would be to marry some one whom you had known all your life and with whose every quirk of temper and temperament you were perfectly familiar. Thus, Anabella or Jimmy, with whom you made pies in kindergarten and fought with through high school, and whose ways you knew from A to Z would be first choice in a mate. Or you would have been warned in time and would never make the mistake of tying up with said Anabella or Jimmy.

Unfortunately, however, this plain and simple road to domestic bliss is filled with unexpected pitfalls. One of these is the fact that we are not likely to fall in love with those whose faults and foibles we know only too well. It is strangers who allure us to whom we endow with every quality that we would like our hero or heroine to possess.

Mary Jane who lives on our block stands nakedly forth with all the angles of her disposition plainly visible, but visiting Jilt's idiosyncrasies are swathed in the pink chiffons of fancy in which we have draped her. We have nothing but contempt for Joe whom we know to be a lazy loafer, but there is something glamorous about the leisure of Percival who also belongs to the tribe of those who are born too tired to labor. So we marry Juliet or Percival and when we get our surprise packages home and find out what we have got—well, it is just too bad.

In reality, to suggest that men and women should pick out their wives and husbands by the same and safe method of testing their quality and finding out before marriage if they are really what they need, is as foolish as to think that lads and lassies will buy serviceable homespun and useful trucks when their souls cry aloud for satins and spangles and sport cars.

Then there is the impossibility of men and women ever really knowing each other, no matter even if they have been brought up in the same house. The mysterious bar of sex precludes this. No man ever looks into a woman's mind and sees what makes the wheels go round, nor does any woman ever know what motivates a man.

The wisest man who ever lived does not know why a woman cries when she is glad or why she can find a consolation that never fails in going shopping or why she values words more than deeds and will believe that a man loves her if he tells her so even though he beats and starves her, but will doubt the affection of the husband who keeps silent about the state of his feelings, but who works himself to death to prove his devotion.

Nor do women know anything more about men. Wives grow grey-headed trying to puzzle out why their husbands prefer their shabby old clothes to new ones, why they don't like to talk at home, why their idea of a good time is to go to some place where they can dress like tramps, why they hate parties.

As a rule, men's tastes and women's tastes differ as fried onions from pink ice cream. So if they shopped around until they found a mate who liked just the things they did, there would be a lot of old maids and old bachelors in the world.

Another difficulty that those seeking rubber stamps of themselves would encounter would be piercing the camouflage with which youths and maidens disguise themselves in the courting season and which renders it almost impossible, even for a careful observer, to tell what they really are. Many a suitor who wins a girl by his lavish generosity makes a tight-fisted husband. Many a great lover turns into a human ice-box after marriage. Many a man who swore to a girl that her little white hand should do naught after marriage but soothe his weary brow makes her take in washing to support him.

Many a man who thought he was marrying a living picture finds he has got a chromo when she takes off her complexion and her good clothes.

Many a girl who was so soft and sweet and gentle that butter wouldn't melt in her mouth is a virago and a nagger after marriage. Many a domestic girl comes out of the kitchen on her wedding day and never goes back into it again. Many a girl who burns incense at a man's feet before marriage tells him where to get off after marriage.

And so it goes. Men and women can never really get to know each other, and they must always guess at the characters of those they marry. And perhaps it is because marriage is the greatest gamble on earth that makes us all want to take a try at it.

Uncle Wiggily's Big Pumpkin

By HOWARD R. GARRIS

One day when Uncle Wiggily went to his backyard bungalow garden to pick some more beans and tomatoes, Bunty, the cute little orphan rabbit, went with him.

"I'm going to help Uncle Wig pick his beans and tomatoes," said Bunty.

"Come along!" invited the rabbit, and Bunty was allowed. Truth is, the little orphan rabbit dropped more tomatoes on the ground than she put in the basket and it was the same with the string beans. But the rabbit gentleman didn't care.

WINDS A PUMPKIN.

All of a sudden, as Bunty hopped down to the far end of the garden, she saw something that made her call out: "Oh, Uncle Wig! Come and see what's here! Come quick!"

"My goodness! I hope it isn't the Wolf Bad Chap," whispered Mr. Longears. But Bunty stood by her call out: "Oh, Uncle Wig! Come and see what's here! Come quick!"

"I don't know you had pumpkins in your garden, Uncle Wig," said Bunty.

"Neither did I," said Mr. Longears, but it seems I have. I forgot that I planted pumpkin seeds when I planted the beans and tomatoes. My, that is a large pumpkin, isn't it, Bunty?" he went on as he looked at the big, round, yellow vegetable lying on the ground amid the vines.

"It looks like eggs as far as I can tell," she exclaimed, her eyes sparkling.

"Do you suppose this might be a fairy pumpkin and that it could be turned into a coach, with mice for horses and could ride in it? Oh, if I only could, Uncle Wig!"

"Well, Bunty," said Uncle Wiggily, "I can't truly say this is a fairy pumpkin, but if you would like to turn it into a coach, with mice for horses to pull it as you could in it, I'll do my best to be managed. Yes, I think it could."

"Really, Uncle Wig? Really and truly?" asked Bunty.

"I think so," said Mr. Longears. "You hop to the bungalow and wait for me and see what happens."

"Oh, boy, wonderful!" said Bunty, her eyes very bright. When she had gone to the bungalow, Uncle Wiggily took the big pumpkin to his garage. There he cut it in half and scooped out the soft inside pulp and the seeds as if for a Jack-o'-Lantern. Next he fastened on four old, doll carriages wheels. The pumpkin began to resemble a coach, with a little bit of wood and draped over it a red rag like crimson plush.

"Now the pumpkin coach is almost ready for Bunty to ride in," laughed the rabbit gentleman. "But I must go now. I'm going to be surprised. And if the paper hanger doesn't paste the wall paper on the floor, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Bunty's surprise."

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel."
SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1935

Adverse planetary aspects rule to-day, according to astrology. It is a day in which to be especially guarded in speech. Label sales are forecast as a result of much throwing by stage operators and privileges may be seriously curtailed.

While the early morning hours may be fortunate for signing contracts and entering into agreements there should be delay in carrying out new business obligations.

Destructive planetary influences are abroad under this configuration. It is a day when unusual accidents may occur. Caution should slide, especially in aviation.

Again astrologers foretell the use of explosives in many sinister plots and crimes. Robberies are to multiply through the autumn and the winter will be a period of great peril for those who hold coveted possessions.

Labour continues under a rule making for discontent and determined demands from employers. Leaders may be discredited late in the year when sensational events are prearranged.

Uranus is in a place that encourages selfishness, greed and lack of consideration for others. Gain without work will be desired by many and considerable will be widespread through the next few months.

Even to those who do not read the meanings of the planetary positions there are many signs that precede great wars and revolutions. One of the portents is the quest for excitement and amusement.

France is to be even more anxious than in the past because of new groupings of the powers. Conservative policies are to be fortunate for the country may emerge suddenly into prosperity.

Fernando whose birthdate is 1876, is the augury of a year of tests involving letters and newspaper publicity. Wise procedure will assure good fortune.

Children born on this day will have keen minds and ready capabilities. Some of this day may be creative and artistic.

Will Irwin, author, was born on this day, 1878. Charles Dana Gibson, illustrator, also celebrated it as a birthday, 1897.

Not Opposing Bennett in Calgary

Canadian Press
Toronto, Sept. 13.—Premier Albert of Alberta said here yesterday evening he had advised Social Credit leaders in Calgary he did not wish a candidate placed in Calgary West in opposition to Premier Bennett in the forthcoming Dominion general election.

"I claim that since R. B. Bennett is Premier of Canada and has taken such a prominent part in the affairs of the world and has represented Calgary West all these years, our party should not oppose him," said Mr. Albert.

Asked whether he had issued orders to that effect, the Premier said: "I don't do it that way. I have advised some of our leaders and they have spread the news."

WILL REMODEL ENTIRE FLEET

Motorships of Libera Line Will Be Given New Engines and Other Features

A complete reconditioning of the entire fleet of the Libera line, plying between Pacific Coast ports and the Mediterranean, will be undertaken at once according to an announcement made today by the Empire Shipping Company Limited, British Columbia Agents.

New Fiat motors have been ordered for installation in the five motorships now in service with a view to increasing their speed. The motorship Feila will be the first vessel to be reconstructed, followed by the motorships Rialto, Feltre, Cellina, and Leme.

Steps are also being taken to bring about a substantial increase in existing refrigeration space aboard these ships to accommodate growing shipments of apples, pears and oranges to the markets of the Pacific coast and to the Mediterranean.

Further improvements in passenger accommodations will also be undertaken to afford travelers aboard these popular motorships even greater comfort when traversing the "sunny, southern route" to and from Europe via the Panama Canal.

It is reported that the entire reconstruction programme will be sufficiently under way to enable inauguration of the new faster service about July or August, 1936.

Makes Flight From Los Angeles to New York in Thirteen and a Half Hours, Only Seven Minutes More Than Frank Hawks

New York, Sept. 12.—Laura Ingalls, diminutive woman flyer, landed at Floyd Bennett airport here yesterday evening at 10:34 o'clock (Eastern Standard Time) beating by a big margin the west-east transcontinental flight mark previously held by Amelia Earhart for women flyers.

Miss Ingalls' official time was announced as thirteen hours thirty-four minutes five seconds, far under the seventeen hours seven minutes and thirty second mark set by Miss Earhart.

The flight was figured to the time her ship appeared over the field, at 10:18:05 (Eastern Standard Time). She left Los Angeles at 8:44 a.m. (Eastern Standard Time) yesterday morning and was unreported from the time she passed over Albuquerque, N.M., on the 2447-mile flight until her black monoplane flashed over Floyd Bennett field.

She landed less than sixteen minutes later, not immediately explaining why she did not come down sooner.

Miss Earhart set her record July 7, 1933.

Miss Ingalls made several unsuccessful efforts earlier in the year to beat the mark.

She missed Frank Hawks' non-stop record for men and women by only seven minutes.

She looked none the worse after her dash across the country as she stepped out of her low-wing Lockheed-Orion plane.

Her radio compass went out of commission just west of Columbus, O., she said. If it had been functioning, she might have beaten Hawks' mark.

Because it was out, she overshot Floyd Bennett, cruised as far as Mitchell Field to lose altitude, and then returned to Floyd Bennett field to claim the new women's mark.

"I think her pilot only occasionally," she said.

"I think it's fine," Miss Ingalls smilingly answered a question about the record.

"It's about time it happened. Even Miss Earhart said she had held the record too long," Miss Ingalls said.

ATV VERY LITTLE

The petite flyer revealed that she had eaten "only a banana" on the trip east.

She said she had flown 10,000 to 12,000 feet above the ground most of the way.

"Nobody could see me—too high," she said laughing. "I used the automatic (robot) pilot off and on. I used the Department of Commerce radio beam and it was perfect."

Last year the dark-haired flyer became the first woman to fly over the South American Andes.

She is the first woman to fly the same course non-stop from east to west. She covered the distance in July in eighteen hours nineteen and a half minutes.

WAS MARINER MANY YEARS

Late Capt. C. E. Wiman Piloted Puget Sound Ships For Forty-five Years

Seattle, Sept. 13.—Capt. Chauncey Eugene Wiman, seventy-one years of age, who built and operated steamers on Puget Sound during his forty-five years as a Pacific Northwest mariner, died yesterday at the Marine Hospital.

Captain Wiman credited as one of the highlights of his career the time he saw his steamer, the Verona, riddled with bullets in the deadly I.W.W. battle on the Everett wharf in 1916. He witnessed the fight from the pilot house of the Verona.

He operated steamers out of Tacoma for twenty-five years, later moving to Vashon Island, where he built and operated the steamers Norwood, Verona and Vashon. His boyhood was spent in Olympia.

Vessel Ashore In Puget Sound

S. Everett Runs Aground Off Dungeness Lighthouse In Heavy Fog To-day

Seattle, Sept. 13.—The freighter S. Everett of the Tacoma Oriental Steamship Company went ashore in heavy fog off Dungeness at 7:40 a.m. today while returning to Seattle.

The vessel was damaged by the loss of a propeller blade in the Strait of Juan de Fuca. The vessel dropped the blade at 6 a.m. while bound from Seattle for Oriental ports with a cargo of general freight and lumber.

She went ashore 300 yards north of the Dungeness Lighthouse, but was not believed in danger. The vessel, commanded by Capt. T. H. Payne, left here at 1 a.m.

SAYS DIVING IS DANGEROUS

Veteran Diver Warns Against Experiments With Home-made Equipment

Seattle, Sept. 13.—Arthur Hook, professional sea diver of Bellingham, who has more than 7,000 dives to his credit, has this advice to youngsters: "Boys, don't experiment with home-made deep sea diving equipment."

Reading of tests being made by a Seattle school student with diving equipment made out of an old hot water tank, Hook said today: "It's a dangerous game to be played."

"People don't realize the danger," he said, "even at a depth of only fifty feet a person is breathing air at a pressure of twenty-two pounds to the square inch. You can't come up suddenly to the surface with that kind of air in your lungs. You have got to come up in slow stages or your lungs will burst."

Westbound Atlantic travel is now in full swing and when the United States liner Manhattan reached New York early this week she had 1,133 passengers on board, the largest list she has carried during her four years of operation. Customs and immigration men at New York worked at top speed looking after people on this ship. Even then it took four hours before the last passenger had left the dock. Every berth on the ship was occupied.

Princess Der Ling, descendant of an old Imperial Chinese family and well-known author of books on her native land, who writes under the pen-name of Mrs. T. C. White, was among the passengers who left San Francisco a few days ago aboard the dollar liner President Coolidge for her home in Shanghai.

Richard K. Mellon, president of the Mellon National Bank of Pittsburgh went ashore in Seattle yesterday from the liner Alaska after a big game hunting expedition to the Far North. With a party of three friends, the nephew of Andrew W. Mellon, former Secretary of the Treasury and Ambassador to the Court of St. James in London, spent only a few hours in Seattle before climbing aboard an airplane for the east. Mellon reported that "bag" included four mountain sheep, four caribou, one grizzly bear and three moose. The four hunters grew beards on their trip, but had them shaved off aboard the Alaska coming south.

Aboard the inbound motorship Hikawa Maru, due at William Head from Japan on Monday morning is Professor J. F. Steiner, of the faculty of the University of Washington, who has been touring in the Orient with members of his family.

Three Drown Near Juneau

Juneau, Alaska, Sept. 13.—Mrs. Jimmy Watson, a native, and two of her children, an eight-year-old son and a year-old baby daughter, drowned yesterday when an overloaded skiff overturned in the Seymour Canal.

Her husband, hampered with heavy boots, saved three other children. The bodies were recovered.

REGINA BOYS ARE GOOD SEA SCOUTS

Regina, Sept. 13.—Being 1,200 miles from the ocean does not prevent young Regina sea scouts making good sailors. In the opinion of Commander Harold E. Grant of Ottawa, in charge of naval reserves here on inspection, they make "very few sailors."

Just as good as any who have lived their lives in coast cities.

JAPANESE FLAG FLIES ON SHIP

Old Queen, Once Pride of Pacific Coast, Preparing For Last Voyage to Japan

Seattle, Sept. 13.—As a mournful reminder of the unhappy fate which awaits her, an alien flag flapped in the breeze yesterday from the stern of the famous old steamship Queen in the Lake Union Dry Dock.

The flag bore the crimson sun of the Japanese merchant ensign. Its appearance betokened the early departure of the ship on her last voyage—as she has been sold to a Japanese firm which will take her across the Pacific to break her up for junk.

When she first came around the Horn in '33 she was called the Queen of the Pacific, and the name was no empty boast because, for years, she was the proudest vessel on the West Coast. But newer and faster ships replaced her and she has been out of commission since 1933.

Raising of the Japanese flag provoked a protest from Seattle yachtsmen, who saw in it a breach of international etiquette. But naval officers declared that, while it was customary for a ship bound for a foreign port to carry the flag of the nation she is visiting at her destination, there is neither any law nor usage which requires a Japanese-owned ship bound for Japan to fly any other flag than her own.

Shippers said Warr met Miss Geyer in Bermuda when the York was there. Their romance continued at Bar Harbor, Me., another post visited by the cruiser where Miss Geyer, a governess, was staying with her employer's family. They had planned to be married at Newport, R.I., the York's next port of call.
